Gala time

Approximately 230 friends of 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone, a Van Buren resident, gathered at the Hilton Airport Inn last Friday for a very successful $50-a-plate fundraiser for Stone's re-election committee. It was reported that a "gala" time was had by all. Attending were Circuit Judge James Mies, Michigan State Supreme Court Justice Thomas Kavanagh (from left), Judge Stone, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge John Kirwan, and State Supreme Court Justice James L. Ryan (right).

In the running

Mayor appoints recreation, community relations directors

The Romulus Recreation Commission, after months of research and interviews, have recommended to Mayor Beverly McAnally that Debra Dick be named Director of Parks and Recreation for the city. According to McAnally, Dick will assume her duties for the city on May 7.

Upon receiving the recommendations McAnally said: "I've known Mrs. Dick for many years and I believe that, based upon her experience and qualifications, the commission has made a wise choice. Debra meets the job requirements and is a Romulus resident."

Dick is a 1970 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School and has been employed by the City of Wayne Department of Parks and Recreation since 1972 as the recreation supervisor.

She is an avid softball and volleyball player and has participated in the Romulus recreational leagues for the past several years. She currently serves on the Softball Board of Governors. Dick is a District Commissioner of the Metro Detroit Amateur Softball Association, a member of the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association and the Southeastern Michigan Recreation Executive Group.

Dick, who resides in Romulus with her husband Ronald and two children, is active in the Calvary Baptist Church and is vice-president of the Wick Elementary Parent Teacher Association. She replaces Dennis Davidson, who will move to City Hall where he will assume the duties of community relations director.

In his new duties as relations director, Davidson will coordinate all media releases, be a liaison to community groups and will assist the industrial coordinator and community development director in matters that relate to community growth and image.

Davidson is a 6-year employee of the city and served the last 4½ years as the director of parks and recreation.

Davidson's background includes experience in sales and both the electronic and print media. During his six years in broadcasting, Davidson spent three years as news and sports director for the American Forces Network in Bremerhaven, West Germany, while serving in the U.S. Army.

He also has worked as a correspondent for United Press International and Associated Press wire services and currently is a field correspondent for the Sports Network, covering the Detroit Red Wings and the Michigan Panthers.

"I asked Dennis to leave recreation to take this new post," said McAnally "because of both his media and sales background. We need someone to promote our city and sell our ideas."

Pay back Ex-worker waits for wages

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

The City of Romulus has spent an estimated $20,000 in attorney fees and court costs over the past six years in an attempt to overturn court decisions ordering them to pay Raymond Block, a former city CETA employee who worked for three months as animal control officer, back wages from Dec. 8, 1978 through April 15, 1980.

In addition, the city was ordered to pay Block the back wages, which total $15,727.94, and interest fees of $8,608.36.

In a letter dated March 9, 1984, to Romulus City Attorney Ronald Mack from the U.S. Department of Labor, the city was instructed to pay Block the entire amount "not later than April 6, 1984." As of April 10, he had not received the money.

Block's attorney, Herbert Brail, said he plans on filing a "writ of execution," which would "order the United States Marshal to go to the city of Romulus and seize money and property in the amount specified, as well as for the cost of doing it."

"This rarely happens in cases like this, involving a community," said Brail. "Usually it only happens with individuals. It's extremely rare for a city not to honor a court order like this."

The letter to Mack also specifies that the interest will continue to accumulate until the debt is liquidated.

According to Block, "the whole mess started because of a misunderstanding."

"I was fired by former Mayor Oakley for supposedly punching my boss, but that didn't happen. Oakley just took his word for it, fired me, and then when he found out the truth, admitted to me he was wrong to fire me, but said he couldn't go back against his decision because it would look bad for him if he did."

Oakley, who is now employed by the Wayne County Road Commission, jokingly said that wasn't true: "I'm far too stubborn to admit I'm wrong, even if I am, and the last person I'd tell I was wrong would be the person involved."

"The city has been shut down every step of the way," explained Brail. "To the best of my knowledge, there has never been any decision at any court or hearing for the City of Romulus or against Block. This mandate ordering them to pay was handed down in the Cincinnati Court of Appeals, which is one step away from the Supreme Court. It's ridiculous that they have pursued it this far."

Oakley declined to comment further on the case, saying only that as far as he knew, the case hadn't even gone to court yet, and that it could do no possible good to talk about it.

Mayor Beverly McAnally said she was not informed of the amount due or the date it was to be paid by until April 5, the day prior to the specified date.

"There seems to be a real communication gap between the Mayor and the city attorney," said Brail.

"I knew that Mr. Block had won, but I wasn't aware of any specifics," said McAnally, who inherited most of the massive court bill from the previous administration. She explained that "the dye had been cast. They had already spent enormous amounts of money on the case, so it seemed the right thing to do was to follow through — there wasn't much more that could be done at that point."

While the administration was unable to provide accurate attorney fees charged to the city on what one councilman called "a cut and dried case," the $20,000 estimate may be low, if the period from October of 1982 through November of 1983 is any indication: according to the city treasurer's office, the bills for that time exceed $5,000.

Monday night Mack and McAnally tried to rush payment through council to avoid any further interest piling up, but the city charter states that funds cannot be transferred without a one-week time period.

Meanwhile, Block is having more trouble. According to Brail, Mack has hired a Livonia-based investigating firm, Casualty Claims Specialists to find out if Block worked during the period in question. Mack claims to have used the firm many times in the past, saying "There's nothing unusual about it."

"My neighbors don't know what's going on, so I'm running around apologizing to them."
— Raymond Block

"They're going to my neighbors' homes and asking all kinds of questions under false pretenses," said Block. "They say that I've applied for a loan and used them as a reference, or that they're helping me on a worker's compensation case, just out-and-out lies."

"I wouldn't mind if they would just tell the truth, but my neighbors don't know what's going on, so I'm running around apologizing to them."

Sandra Schlener, an acquaintance of Block's, says that a man believed to be from the firm "came by last Thursday and again on Friday."

"He said he was from compensation, and he'd like to find out some things so that he (Block) could get his money sooner. I knew that wasn't true, so I asked him to leave," she said.

Mary Robbins, who lives next door to Block, was also visited.

"This lady came to my home and told me Mr. Block had filed for a loan application and that she needed to ask a few questions about him. Then she started asking me things like who lives in his house, what kind of people visit him, what kind of vehicles they drive, things like that. I asked her who she worked for."

"She said she couldn't tell me, and I asked her why she was asking such stupid questions. She was very nervous and unsure of herself."

Some neighbors were left cards from Casualty Claims Specialists with the name James Asch on them. When contacted, Asch stated that "everything regarding our investigations is confidential, including Mr. Block's case. We can't divulge any of that, and that's about all I can say."

When pressed though, whether or not those kind of tactics were the norm, as opposed to direct questioning, Asch replied "No — those methods are not used all the time."

Noisy

State seeks input on plan

Residents living near the I-94 freeway between Wayne Road and east of Michael Road in Romulus will soon be getting some relief from the sounds of the highway, courtesy of the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The MDOT, in conjunction with the Federal Highway Administration has proposed to implement a noise abatement structure along the area, which should effectively reduce sounds emitting from the freeway, according to a spokesman.

At 8 p.m. Thursday, April 12, there will be a public meeting in the council chambers located at city hall to allow residents to voice their opinions and feelings regarding the proposed project.

The MDOT is also considering a noise abatement project that would run north and south of I-94 from Ozga to Shook Roads. MDOT personnel will be available in the afternoon and evening on the hearing date to assist interested individuals.

They will be available from 3:30-5 p.m. exclusively to discuss the Ozga-Shook project, and from 7-8 p.m. to discuss both the Ozga-Shook and Wayne Road projects.

Anyone with questions or requesting information about the proposed highway project should call the Planning Information toll-free telephone number: 1-800-292-9576.

Six candidates file for 2 seats on Romulus board

In addition to the two incumbents, four candidates have filed their petitions for the Romulus Board of Education.

Richard Campbell and Kenneth Berlinn will be running to keep their seats on the board, while challengers Pat Patterson, J. Gordon Schliecher, Henry B. Nolen and Jack A. Bath will be vying to take them away in the June 11 election.

Campbell and Berlinn are finishing up their first terms in office, having been elected in July 1982. Of the challengers, only Bath has experience on the school board, having sat on it for a period in the 1970s.

Change of life

New style minimizes heart disease

By SUSAN HOUSHOLDER
Special to ANP

(Heart disease kills more Americans each year than any other disease! This is the second of a two part series on your heart and factors that modify the risks of disease.)

There is considerable evidence that the formidable statistics of heart disease can be reduced by a change in lifestyle.

To begin with, do not smoke — cigars and pipes included. If stopping smoking is difficult, try using cigarettes low in tar and nicotine, gradually reducing the number of cigarettes smoked. Ask your friends not to "light up" in your home, car, or other areas where ventilation may be poor. Breathing smoked filled air is also dangerous.

Remember that all tobacco products contain harmful nicotine and carbon monoxide. If you find it impossible to quit on your own, work with one of the available smoking clinics for assistance. Consult your doctor or nurse for more information.

High blood pressure (hypertension) is among the more commonly ignored health problems. Because affected people are often free of symptoms, many are inclined to stop their medications after a period of time. Untreated, this "silent killer" may lead to heart disease, strokes, and other major problems. Generally, treating high blood pressure continues throughout a person's life.

See your doctor regularly if you have high blood pressure and take the prescribed medication. Promptly let him or her know of any side effects you may experience. A simple adjustment in dosage or change of drug may be necessary. Limiting the amount of salt in your diet, maintaining an ideal body weight, and regular exercise also help in controlling high blood pressure. In addition to smoking, avoid caffeine and stressful situations both of which contribute to elevations in pressure.

Diabetes (elevated blood sugar levels) left uncontrolled may lead to heart disease. Like hypertension, regular check-ups with your doctor are necessary. Depending on its severity, diabetes can be controlled by special diets, oral medications, or insulin. Weight reduction programs, coupled with regular exercise, as advised by your doctor, are also beneficial. A family history of diabetes signals the need for medical consultation.

Excess weight puts an added burden of work on your heart. In most cases, obesity is the result of overeating. There is no magic way to lose weight. For most people, an entire change in eating habits is required.

Weight loss should not be sudden. Fad diets may produce a rapid weight loss but usually omit essential nutrients. Weight that is rapidly lost is often rapidly regained. The following are pointers you may find helpful:

1. Contact your doctor or nurse before starting your diet especially if you have a known health problem.
2. Set realistic goals for yourself. A two pound per week weight loss is acceptable and you will probably keep it off.

3. Diet with a friend. If you get an urge to eat call him or her for support.

4. Drink a glass of water before eating and eat slowly.

5. Do not keep sweets in the house. If you crave pie, have it in a restaurant. If you buy a pie, you will probably eat it.

6. Do not skip meals, especially breakfast.

7. Make sure your diet contains the essential nutrients; proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins, and minerals.

8. Do not shop for groceries on an empty stomach. You will buy more.

9. Be patient! Most diets fail because people expect quick results. Remember, you did not gain your excess weight overnight.

Stress is unavoidable in today's society. To a degree, this may be good, because a certain amount of stress is needed for emotional growth. However, persistent stress can be harmful. The key is having the ability to identify those situations which cause stress for you and learn to adequately deal with them. Individual reaction to a situation, and not the situation itself, is the controllable factor requiring change. Here are some tips:

1. Don't hurry. Give yourself enough time to complete each daily task.

2. Leave work at the office and give yourself time for leisure activities. Spend some quiet time alone each day.

3. Do not keep your emotions bottled up. Talk about your concerns with a close friend or relative.

4. Learn to accept those situations which are beyond your control. Constant worrying about a problem you cannot solve causes internal traumas. Learn to recognize that some things cannot be changed.

5. Read literature on relaxation techniques that are available in book stores, libraries, or through your doctor.

Our bodies were made to move through the coordinated efforts of our muscles, bones, and joints. Being inactive our bodies become deconditioned resulting in an inability to perform minimal activities without fatigue. Your heart is a muscle and therefore requires exercise to obtain and maintain optimal condition.

Regular exercise is a necessity for optimal health. Those exercises which gradually increase heart rate

Niemiec, McDonald promoted to management posts

David J. Willett, owner and publisher of Associated Newspapers, announced this week the promotions of Dennis Niemiec to managing editor and Sue McDonald to news editor at the publications.

"Dennis Niemiec is and has been an important part of our management team. He is a man who gets things done. His move to the managing editor's position is significant and signals the beginning of a renewed effort to revitalize our coverage of the municipalities we serve," noted Willett in making the announcement.

Niemiec joined the Associated Newspapers staff in 1980 as a staff writer. He was promoted to features editor and most recently served as assistant to the publisher. He is the winner of four Michigan Press Association awards including first place honors for investigative reporting and sports writing. He is an honors graduate of the University of Michigan where he earned his journalism degree. He and his wife, Kerry, are the parents of two sons, Matthew and Jeffrey.

DENNIS NIEMIEC

Niemiec will assume the title formerly held by Tom Mooradian who has been charged with the responsibility of the recently expanded sports coverage of the newspaper, along with the Inkster news beat.

McDonald will return to the news editor job after a brief absence from the Associated staff. She has been with the papers since 1973 and earned her journalism degree at Wayne State University. A Westland resident, she graduated with honors from John Glenn High School in 1968.

She has been honored for her civic service by the Girl Scouts, the Wayne Jaycees, the City of Westland and the Wayne-Westland School District. Her professional awards include honors for both page makeup and design. She is a former member of the Board of Directors of the Wayne-Westland YMCA, a member of the Advisory Commission on Economic Development in Westland and a former member of the Board of Directors of the Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union.

"When Sue McDonald announced last summer that she would vacate the news editor position to pursue entrepreneurial excellence, we felt a great sense of loss. To have her returning to her previous position means that she will once again be able to play a major role in our delivering the quality news product that we will be endeavoring to bring our readers. I am delighted to have her back where she belongs," Willett commented.

McDonald will replace Susan Bachand who has been named assistant to the publisher.

Hearing airs rezoning

A public hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, April 16 in the Romulus City Council Chambers for the rezoning of a parcel of land on Huron River Drive just south of the Huron River Estates subdivision. The proposed rezoning is from M1 (light industrial) to residential. The rezoning is being asked for to develop a Planned Unit Development area, according to a city spokesman.

The planned unit development concept is intended to provide a degree of flexibility in the regulation of land development and the arrangement of uses. Through this option more creative approaches to development can be utilized which take better advantage of the special characteristics of the land than would be possible through the strict enforcement of the ordinance, he added.

The basic premise of PUD is to provide single unit housing using the condominium concept. The land will be owned by all the residents under a homeowners' association and will provide property and street maintenance. Recreation areas will also be provided within the development.

"This is definitely not low income housing" said Director of Building Safety David Paul, "the units will be priced from $40,000 and up."

Paul added that this will be a new concept in subdivision controlled housing, "it's a condominium concept only with single family homes."

Mack backs extension

Urged by Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack, the Public Works Committee of the Wayne County Commission has endorsed a proposed ordinance allowing seven years minimum for paying assessed costs of drain repair and maintenance.

By extending to seven years the present three-year period for paying these costs, the ordinance modes of transportation. The development of that resource is the key to keeping the tax rate at its present low level and still be able to provide needed services to the people who live here," she added.

"Growth is essential if we are to maintain and expand the services we are currently provided and if our young people are to have jobs in the future," she explained to the crowd.

The enthusiasm of the group grew as land holders and developers discussed their plans for existing properties and facilities in the city. Mayor Beverly McAnally offered the help of staff courage and facilitate their efforts.

Also heard from were Chuck Hazen of the Michigan Department of Commerce; Richard Viskochil, community development director; David Paul, industrial coordinator; Debbie Schneider of the Wayne County E.D.C.; Dennis Meagher, city planner and John B. Lewkowicz, city treasurer.

Mahalak suffers heart attack

State Rep. Edward Mahalak, (D-Romulus) was listed in good condition at Ann Arbor's University Hospital Tuesday, eight days after suffering a heart attack that left him in critical condition for days.

"He's much improved these last few days," said Mahalak's wife, Dolly, "he's doing real well now. He's in top form, cracking jokes and such. He's even up and walking around."

Mahalak is a 20-year veteran of the House of Representatives, a member of the House Appropriations Committee and chairs a subcommittee on transportation and military affairs.

Mrs. Mahalak said that she would like "to thank everyone that thought of us or prayed for Ed. It's very heartwarming to know he has as many friends and well-wishers as he does."

His reapportioned 38th District includes the cities of Romulus, Wayne and Belleville, Van Buren Township and a portion of Canton Township.

Missing Visitor loses camera

A visitor from Vermontville, Mich., had a rude surprise last Friday as he spotted a man stealing property from his parked vehicle outside of the airport Holiday Inn.

Among the items stolen from the man's vehicle were suitcases and a 35mm camera, which was kept in a bright orange case.

Approximately three-and-a-half hours later, the same Romulus policeman that had come to the scene to take the report of the theft checked on a green Ford that had pulled off the side of Ecorse Road and, according to police, "was just sitting there."

The officer spotted the orange camera case in the back seat and took the three Inkster men, aged 40, 38 and 33 into custody.

While the victim's luggage was not recovered, items reported stolen from a vehicle in Livonia earlier that day were found in the car.

Automobiles parked near the Metro Airport hotels and motels found themselves the targets for the B.B. gun-wielding crook late Thursday night and into the early hours of Friday, as at least 14 cars were reportedly vandalized with numerous broken windows.

Baumann hospitalized

Romulus City Councilman Gary Baumann is reported to be in satisfactory condition this week, recovering from two bouts of kidney stones.

The councilman was in Lansing Friday, when first stricken, and was rushed to Sparrow Hospital, where he was treated and released.

Baumann suffered the second attack while at home Sunday and was taken to Annapolis Hospital, where he is being treated for the condition.

Calendar planned

The Romulus Community Relations Department is instituting a Community Calendar, with the purpose of coordinating civic and social events within the city.

Anyone wishing to make use of the calendar may do so by calling the Community Relations Department at 941-0666 ext. 216 or visiting the department at city hall.

Brainstorm 'rains' ideas for Romulus

Enthusiasm was the key word last Friday as Romulus city officials, county, and state representatives met with major land holders, realtors and developers during the third of four economic development "brainstorming" sessions at the Romulus Holiday Inn.

In opening remarks, Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally welcomed the group, telling of the many resources and attributes of the city and outlined her administration's goal of promoting and developing those resources to the benefit of the total community.

"Some of the most effective tools for economic recovery and development are solely in the hands of local governments," said McAnally. "Matters of zoning, ordinance interpretation and enforcement, provisions of incentives; revenue bonds, EDC assistances and tax abatements, are all the prerogatives of local officials."

"The City of Romulus is one of the few communities in the Wayne County area that has an abundance of properly zoned vacant land that is adjacent to all and is intended to provide relief for taxpayers with limited or fixed income who own large parcels of land, Mack explained. The committee set April 24 for a public hearing on the ordinance.

Mack, the vice-chairman of the committee and author of the ordinance, said it is "necessary because major banks have changed from previous policy of issuing seven-year notes to issuing only three-year notes."

"Without the ordinance, this constitutes an undue hardship," said Mack. "Take, for example, a widow living on a 200 acre farm. People like this simply cannot afford to pay some of these huge costs."

Mack said that southern Wayne County communities, particularly Huron and Sumpter Townships, have long been plagued with poor drainage conditions, and that charges for cleaning one mile of drain costs between $20,000 to $40,000. Although the drains belong to the county, state statutes limit county funding to $800 per mile, with the remainder assessed to property owners, he explained.

"We're talking about assessments that commonly amount to $3000 or $4000 and that is for clean-out only," Mack emphasized. "This ordinance is a measure meant to protect people from losing their lands due to tax bills that are too heavy. When loss of property is threatening, it is a matter that deserves serious attention."

Mack stressed that the ordinance would not prohibit the banks from issuing three-year notes, but would prevent the County from collecting the assessments in fewer than seven years. Neither would the ordinance prohibit voluntary early payment, he said.

Mack said a separate issue that needs addressing is whether property owners should be required to pay at all for drains that are a part of the county's system. "If the drains were cleaned properly and not left unattended for so many years, we could budget the costs."

BENEFITS NO OTHER HEALTH PLAN CAN OFFER.

This is the time of year many companies give employees an important choice to make. To be with the best in health care coverage—Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan—or with something less.

Don't be misled by what other plans may promise. We are the only plan that gives you:

- The Blue Cross and Blue Shield I.D. card—the most recognized and accepted health care card in the world.

- We pay for your covered services anywhere in Michigan from any of:

- 215 hospitals.
- 13,000 physicians. Your family doctor is one of them.
- Any dentist—and there are over 6,300 of them.
- 2,255 pharmacies.

- Coverage wherever you go. Both emergency and non-emergency covered services are paid for all across the United States and anywhere in the world.

Considering this, why settle for less?

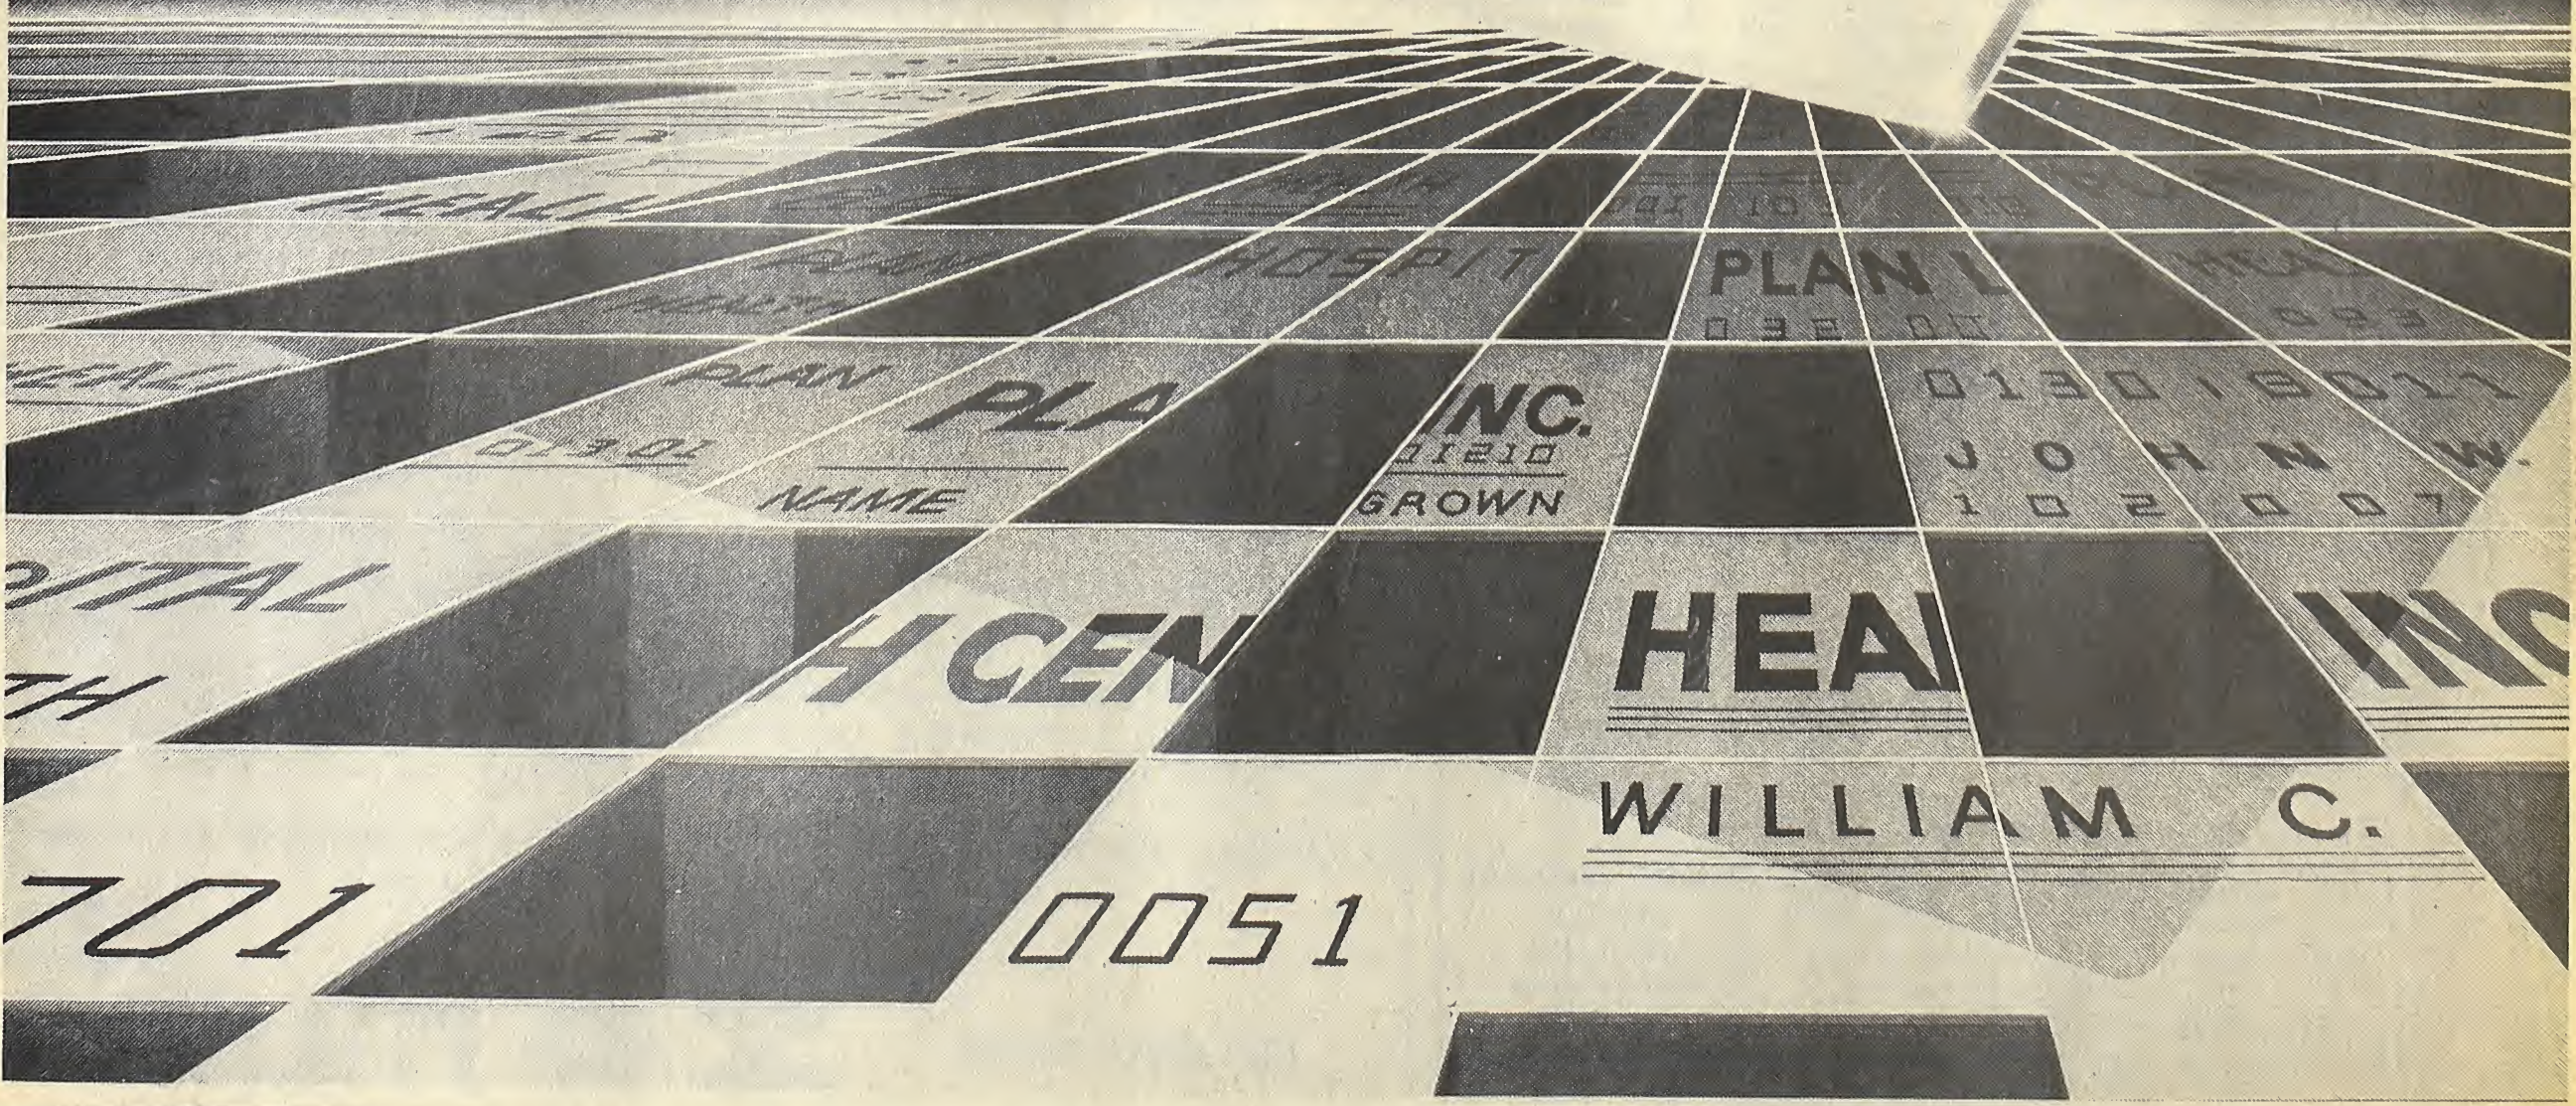

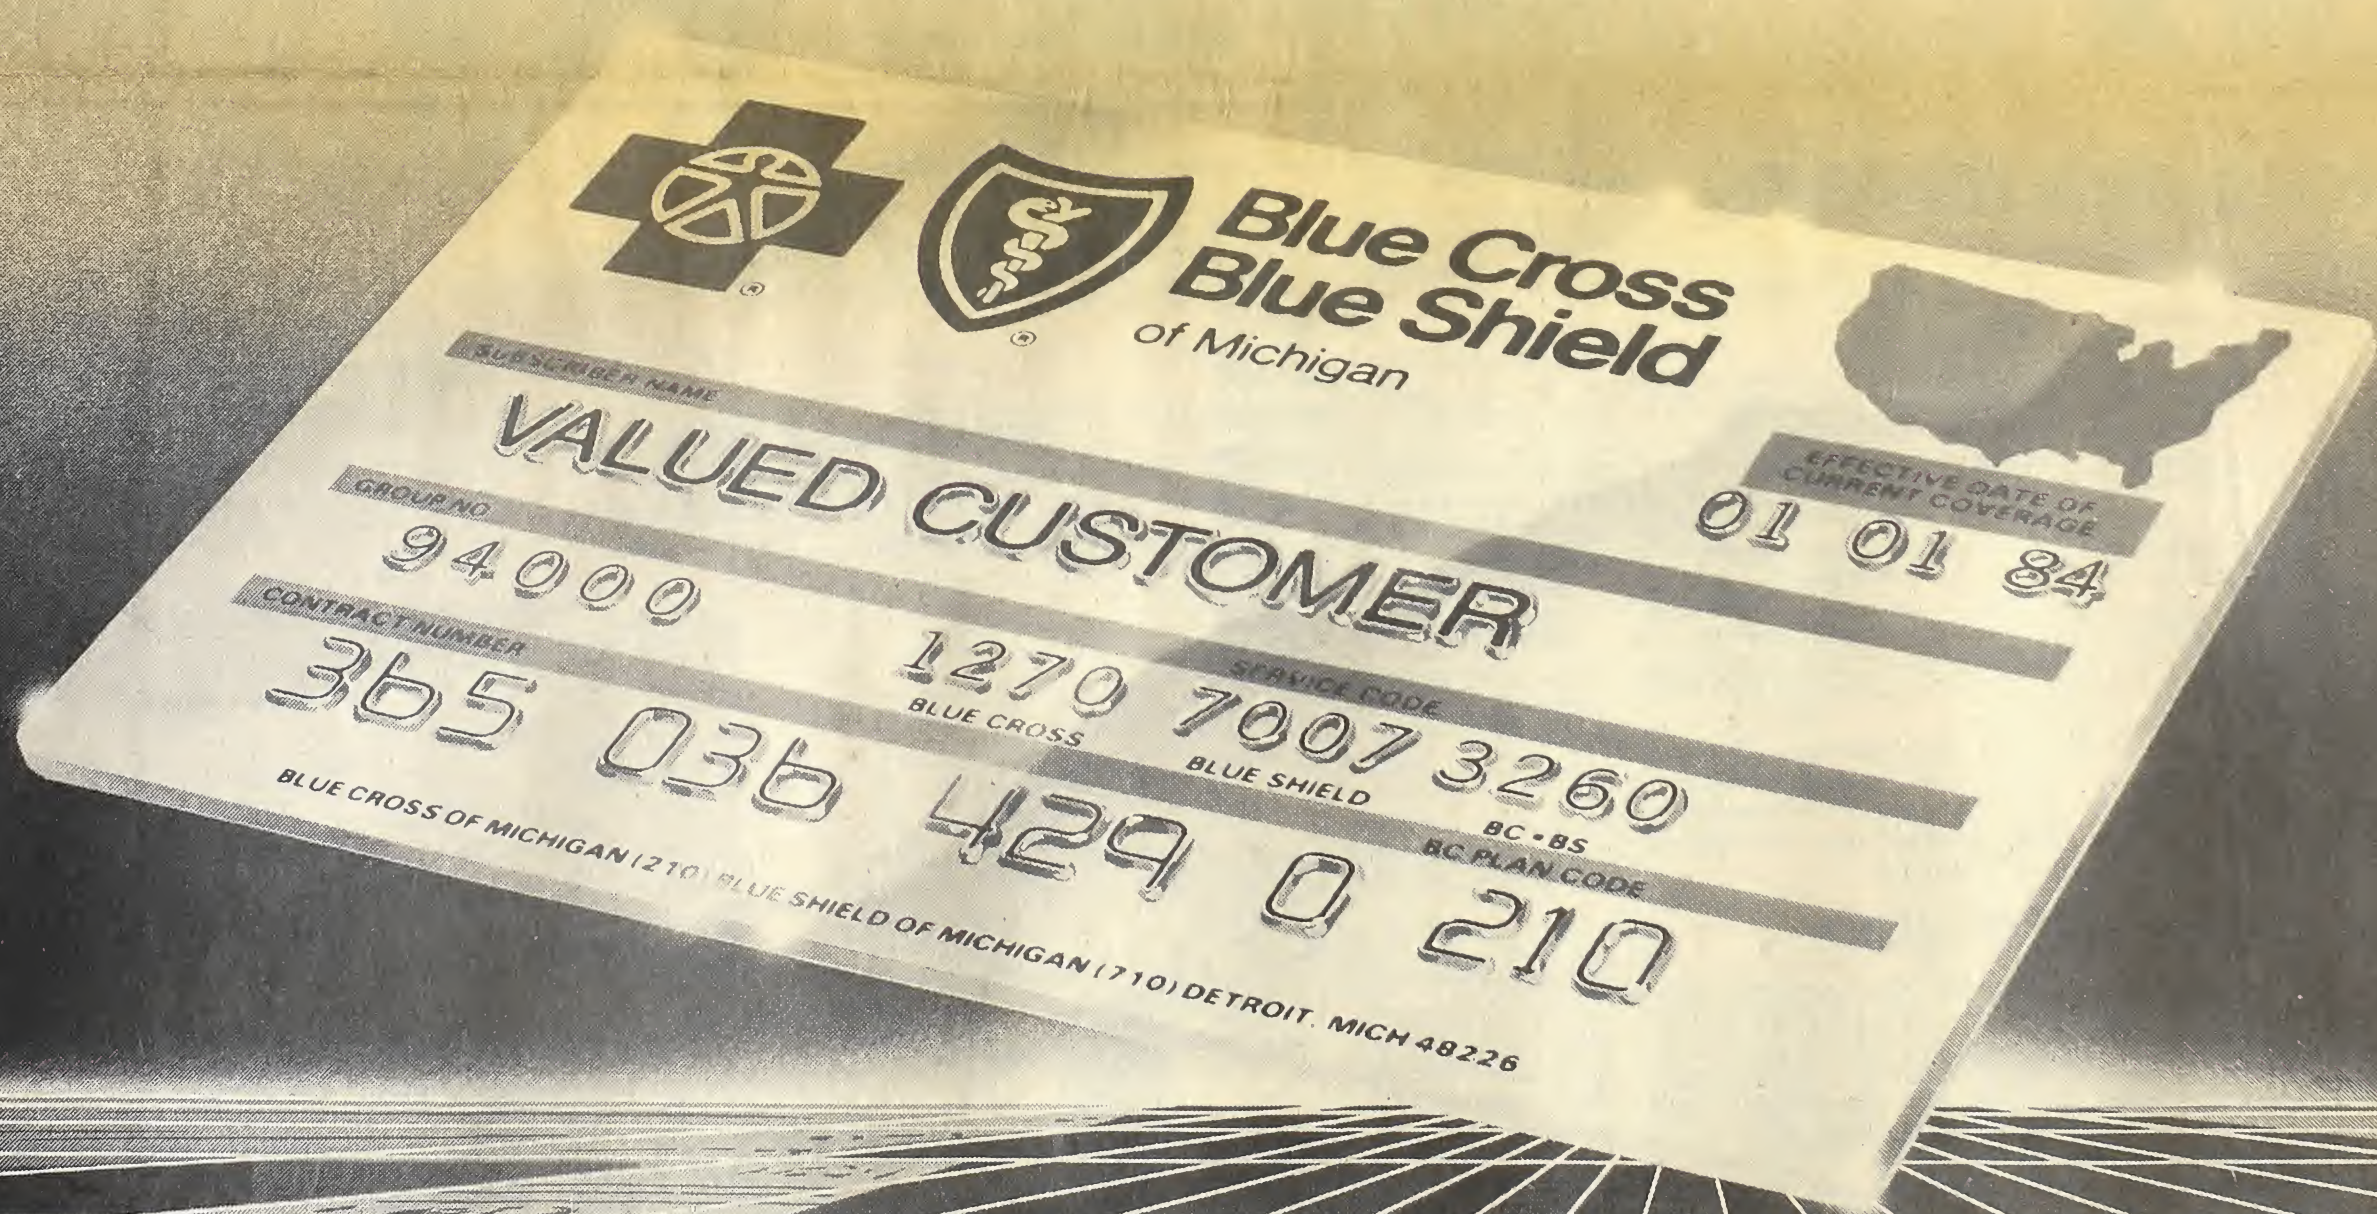

Entrust your family's health care to the leader—

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan.

ON THE LIGHT SIDE — CREATIVE WRITING, TO SAY THE LEAST.

Dear Letter Writer:

I make xerox copies of some dokumints you sed you wanted. There here in the envelope right here. I just xeroxed a small maount becuse I am an Offise Managar and don't got time to do so much things for other peepull. You are a very deer friend and you no I would do anything for your mostly. That is why I took time out of my busy day to do this. That and the fact that if I ever wanted a favor from you, now I feel like you owe me and that is a grate feeling!

By the way, do you think I could get a job at the letter righter because I could always use extra monie and would do a real good job for you and your company really. I am a very professional and do typing real good. I have a certain flair with the english langwidge and could represent your company good. Don't answer now — think it over — and get back with me in the morning. I work cheap too!!

Sincerely, Nanook of the North

Dear Nanook:

I am in receipt of your forwarded materials received this a.m., October 1, 1983.

For the enclosures and only the enclosures, I thank you. You are correct, you are a professional in every way. Once an executive, always an executive, you can't escape your image.

In spite of your obvious underlying intention of "teasing" me with your cleverly misspelled words and "cutsie" expressions, I know the truth. You are, in fact, totally incompetent.

It doesn't really matter how "cheap" you work, as you are untrainable and unacceptable. Do not bother trying to improve or increase your skills or expertise as it would be a waste of your time. You must simply face the facts; you have absolutely nothing to offer an employer.

I would suggest to you that you begin contacting organizations and firms and propose to them that if they will let you work for them, you will be glad to pay any amount they desire.

In all sincerity and all kidding aside, I honestly think your note was extremely creative. Your misspellings, etc. were fabulous. I know you already know it, but you do have a dynamite personality and an exceptionally keen sense of humor.

I can't thank you enough for what you sent to me.

I am sure in the future, I will need other things from you (you knew it, didn't you).

Sincerely, Your Friend,
The Letter Writer

RESOLUTION:

Obviously, there is no resolution. Both Nanook and myself, however, participated in a good laugh; something we need to do more and more.

Your responses to my column are appreciated. Please continue to write to 41719 Joy Road, Canton, MI 48187 or call me at (313) 455-8892.

BPW members attend meeting

Six members of the Belleville Business and Professional Women (BPW) represented the city at a recent state board meeting in Lansing.

In attendance at the March 23 meeting at the Plaza Hotel in Lansing were President Faye Sotomayer, District Director Bonnie Pavlat and members Mable Hall, Irene Christie, Sophie Zoller and Midge Artley.

Members reviewed the proposed BPW 1984-85 legislative platform. The platform includes support of legislative activities to promote equal educational opportunities for women in Michigan; legislation that deals with family violence and child abuse; environmental safety legislation; and political candidates sympathetic to women's issues.

On March 28, 16 members of the Belleville BPW attended the Spring District meeting at the Portside Inn in Wyandotte. Belleville member Bonnie Pavlat presided.

The highlight of the evening was selection of a Young Career Woman to participate at the state convention in May. Maria Holmes of Belleville, Patricia McCarthy of Lincoln Park, and Barbara Zolan of Dearborn were the three finalists, with McCarthy selected as the winner.

New district officers were elected during the meeting. The Belleville Club auctioned off 12 live floral arrangements to increase their treasury by $40.

WOM show fashion sense

The Belleville Chapter of Women of the Moose wrapped up a busy spring with a March 11 fashion show, presented by Shirley McGriff and Shirley Hinton.

A chapter rally day was held at Milan on March 4. At the meeting, Annabelle Sobolewski was invested with her red stole by colleague Betty Willis. Also in March, Antoinette Joannette served a men's enrollment dinner on St. Patrick's Day.

February chairperson Nina Normandin sent her cookbook in to the printers. Anyone wishing to purchase one should contact her.

January child care chairperson Shirley Little and her committee enjoyed a successful month with men's enrollment dinner. New co-workers include Nancy Marz, Ruby Gray, Susan Penn and Lenore Cicotte.

For more information about the group, call Helen Frydrych at 697-9151 or 697-9151.

Philantelic catalogue offered

A free catalog illustrating all current and soon-to-be-released U.S. postage stamps, postal stationary and other philatelic items will be available this month, according to Postmaster Patrick J. Tobin of Belleville Post Office.

"Some of our new commemorative stamps are truly beautiful," said Tobin, "such as the 1984 Louisiana World Exhibition stamp featured on the catalog's cover and the orchids block of four stamps with floral designs.

"Demand for this colorful, free catalog is going to be great, so we're offering it by mail in addition to distributing it in some post office lobbies."

Published six times a year, the philatelic catalog describes the Postal Service complete philatelic product line and contains items currently available via mail order. Customers interested in acquiring stamps may purchase them from their post office or use the convenient mail order form and pre-addressed, postage-paid envelope found in the catalog.

"Collecting stamps in the world's most popular hobby and provides hours of fascinating entertainment for people of all ages," declared Tobin. "Once you start, you can't stop."

A booklet, entitled "And Now . . . The World's Greatest Hobby," telling how to get started in stamp collecting and describing the basic collecting tools also can be ordered free, along with the catalog, by writing to: USPS Philatelic Catalog, Philatelic Sales Division, Washington, D.C. 20265-9997.

Study Club sponsors card party

The GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club (formerly the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club) will sponsor its traditional Card and Game Party at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 11, at the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road, Belleville.

The party will feature door prizes and table favors as prizes for lucky attendees. The traditional hope chest, chocked full of hand-crafted items made by club members will also be raffled off that evening.

The Study Club will supply all necessary playing cards, and a wide variety of games. Home-made desserts and pies, as well as coffee or tea, are included in the price of admission.

Tickets are $1.25 per person, and are available at the Van Buren Township Clerk's Office or at the door. The public is invited to attend.

Proceeds from this event are used to fund the Genevieve Clark Memorial Scholarship, which is given annually to a single, female parent who is attempting to further her education. Anyone who desires more information on the GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club, or the card party or scholarship should contact club president Nancy Sawyer, at 697-0764.

Seniors plan 'Getaway'

September Days Senior Citizens plan a five day "Get Away" at the Castaways, in Port Austin, Michigan.

The "Get Away" will be five days and four nights and will run from May 21-25. The final payment is due April 6 (Friday), which is the deadline for registration. Everythin is planned form a hayride to sing-a-longs and a scavenger hunt.

For further information call the Senior Center at 699-8910 or 699-8920.

Rod Benson, president of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce and specialist in urban planning, will speak on downtown revitalization Thursday (April 12) at Savage School at noon. He has been active in developing downtown malls across the country. The public is invited to attend.

Students to stage 4th grade wildlife ecology program

Members of Romulus High School's Conservation Club will present a wildlife ecology program to fourth grade students in the school district later this month.

Tom Baldwin, sponsor of the 25-member group, informed elementary principals recently that his group will teach a very specific lesson in wildlife ecology in an unusual way. The program will include inquiry techniques, visual and sound experiences, a game and role playing.

Part of the one-hour lesson, to be presented in each Romulus school, will involve questions to identify a mystery animal, Baldwin said. There will be a quick look at the animal with slides and a sound track.

Vern Ellard wins new Plymouth at Auto Show

Belleville resident Vern Ellard has a new Plymouth Turismo as one of 13 lucky winners in the "Most Incredible Contest" of the recent 68th Detroit Auto Show.

The contestants were required to estimate the number of objects in each of the 13 contest cars on display during the Auto Show. The cars contained an assortment of objects, such as tennis balls, oil cans and basketballs.

Ellard selected his new car from Livonia Chrysler-Plymouth Inc.

CATHY HORSTE

Van Buren's Horst named CPAM Volunteer of Year

Belleville area resident Cathy L. Horste has been named Volunteer Crime Prevention Practitioner of the Year for 1984 by the Crime Prevention Association of Michigan (CPAM).

Horste received a large wood and brass plaque in recognition of her achievement, during the CPAM Awards Banquet, held in Windsor, Ont., Canada, March 22.

In presenting the plaque Commander James Humphrey of the Detroit Police Department and president of CPAM, cited Horste's thousands of hours of volunteer crime reduction work, including the establishment of neighborhood watch programs, crime prevention presentations made throughout the state and the design and implementation of several major crime prevention programs and projects in her role as crime prevention chairman of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Horste, a member of the GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club, has served as the crime prevention/public relations officer for the Van Buren Township Police Department on a volunteer basis and has implemented several programs for the department.

She also is employed full-time as a police officer for the Veterans Administration.

Now you're cookin'

Shutterbug trades darkroom for dishes

German food, a touch of old world and a dash of laughter made for a mouthwatering combination when Associated Newspapers' Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko brought his culinary skills to the Wayne County Extension Center during a 4-H International Cooking Class series. Konietzko was one of four teachers to take part in the series, offered to 4-H leaders and teens.

Also demonstrating cooking skills were volunteers Jean Bealous and Vera Szabo, who prepared Italian and Hungarian cuisine respectively, and Vasko Bosnakovski, owner of Vasko's Family Restaurant which specializes in Greek specialties. "It's a piece of cake," Konietzko, (right) seems to be telling 4-H Program Assistant Connie Testorelli as he pours pound cake batter. Students Jennifer Giebert, David James and 4-H Youth Agent Margie Leskowsky were happy to taste test the photographer's efforts. Another cooking series is planned for fall.

HURON TOWNSHIP BOARD PUBLIC HEARING April 4, 1984

The Public Hearing was called to order by Supervisor A. J. Haener at 7:02 P.M.

Board Members present: Bates, Carey, Gamber, Geierman, Puskar and Haener

Absent: Ashby

Mr. Haener stated: "This Public Hearing is being held on the request by Lyon Development Company, P.O. Box, New Hudson, MI 48165, for a Special Condition Use Permit, under township Zoning Ordinance No. 20, to construct a sanitary landfill on property located on the northwest corner of I-275 and Sibley Road, between Sibley Road and Pennsylvania Road, (Tax Item number 05EE2a1, 05E1, 05F1, and 05EE1a), and on the request for a sanitary landfill permit under Ordinance 81-3 "Huron Township Soil Excavation and Landfill Ordinance," and variances of Ordinance No. 81-3 sections 6(k), 7(c), 8(e), and 4(d)."

James Collier, Attorney for Lyon Development Company, stated that this is the last step in phase 1 of the Huron Township landfill project. The Township Board adopted an anti-landfill ordinance and the people approved the millage to fight the landfills, so they would now proceed with phase 2.

Mr. Collier left the meeting at 7:12 P.M.

Michael Patrick, 19010 Craig St. asked what time of the year the water table studies had been done on the property and if that would have a bearing on the permit being issued. He also mentioned an open pond on an adjacent parcel of land with very clear blue water in it.

Roy Raker, 17340 Wahrman Road: Expressed many concerns on the location of the proposed B.F.I. landfill due to the direction of the water-flow in the area, farming, the run-off after completion of the project, the land/property values, livelihood of people in the area, the leachate in the future, and felt that recycling and resource recovery programs should be forthcoming.

Louise Bosman, 30862 West Road, stated that she shared the same concerns as Mr. Raker but was also concerned about the bird problems, the low-flying aircraft, the proximity of the runways to the Huron Township and the proposed site of the landfill. She quoted statistics for the 1978 F.A.A. birdstrike study. She felt that a landfill anywhere in Huron Township would be irresponsible because we are an agricultural community, agriculture attracts birds and so do landfills. She stated that she would oppose a landfill being placed anywhere near the airport in adjacent communities such as Romulus, Taylor, Brownstown or Huron. Also said that the water table in Huron Township is too high.

A suggestion from the audience that the Wyandotte officials should be informed that leachate would be trucked into their city to be disposed of at the sewage treatment plant due to the overloading of the Flat Rock treatment plant.

Vicki Lyons informed the audience that the Wayne County Solid Waste Planning Committee will be holding public hearings on the County Solid Waste Plan on April 17th at the City-County Bldg. (all day) and on April 18th at the Wayne County Intermediate School District Auditorium on Van Born Road in Wayne from 7 P.M. to 11 P.M. She urged all interested persons to make a statement at those hearings.

The Public Hearing was closed at 7:48 P.M.

The following Resolution was read by Mary Lou Carey, Clerk:

MOTION TO ADOPT FINDINGS AND TO DENY
LYON DEVELOPMENT COMPANY APPLICATION
FOR SPECIAL CONDITION USE PERMIT

I move that the Huron Township Board adopt the following findings and, based upon those findings, deny the Lyon Development Company Application for Special Condition use Permit under Huron Township Ordinance No. 20, as amended, known as the Zoning Ordinance, for the following reasons:

1. Section 43.51.05 of Ordinance No. 20, as amended, provides, "Before the Board of Appeals issues a Permit, the Township Board shall find that the granting of said Permit shall not be injurious to the public health, safety and welfare of the Township and its residents; there has been compliance with all the requirements and standards of this Ordinance, and the other applicable Township Ordinances, standards and regulations; the proposed operation will not create an unreasonable hazard, annoyance or inconvenience to the owners or occupants of nearby property; will not significantly change the character of the neighborhood or unreasonably reduce the value of nearby property; and will not create any significant obstacle to the implementation of the Zoning Plan as evidenced by this Ordinance and the Master Plan of the Township."

The Township Board find that the Lyon Development Company has failed to demonstrate to the satisfaction of this Board that the construction and operation of the proposed sanitary landfill in accordance with the proposal contained in the application meets the requirements of Section 43.51.05 of the Township Zoning Ordinance.

A. The Township Board finds that the granting of the Permit may be injurious to the public health, safety and welfare of the Township and its residents for all of the reasons stated in the findings and recommendations contained in the minutes of the Huron Township Planning Commission meeting of February 21, 1984, which are adopted as findings by this Township Board, and for all of the reasons stated in the sub-sections of this Motion which follow, all of which are incorporated herein by reference.

B. The Huron Township Board finds that there has not been compliance with all of the requirements and standards of the Zoning Ordinance, nor with the requirements of Huron Township Ordinance No. 81-3, the Soil Excavation and Landfill Regulatory Ordinance, nor with the requirements of the standards and regulations laid out in the Township Master Use Plan, for the reasons stated in the findings and recommendations of the Huron Township Planning Commission adopted at its meeting of February 21, 1984, which are hereby adopted as findings by this Board and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth fully herein.

C. The Huron Township Board finds that the proposed operation will create an unreasonable hazard, annoyance and inconvenience to the owners or occupants of nearby property, for the reasons stated in the minutes and recommendations of the Huron Township Planning Commission adopted at its meeting of February 21, 1984, which are hereby adopted as findings by this Board and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth fully herein.

D. The Huron Township Board finds that the proposed operation will significantly change the character of the neighborhood and unreasonably reduce the value of nearby property, for the reasons stated in the minutes and recommendations of the Huron Township Planning Commission adopted at its meeting of February 21, 1984, which are hereby adopted as findings by this Board and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth fully herein.

E. The Huron Township Board finds that the proposed operation will create a significant obstacle to the implementation of the Zoning Plan as evidenced by this Ordinance and the Master Plan of the Township, for the reasons stated in the minutes and recommendations of the Huron Township Planning Commission adopted at its meeting of February 21, 1984, which are hereby adopted as findings by this Board and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth fully herein.

Moved by Mary Lou Carey Supported by John Puskar
To place this Resolution on the Agenda of the regular meeting of the Huron Township Board of April 11, 1984 for formal adoption.
The meeting was adjourned at 8:00 P.M.

Respectfully submitted by Mary Lou Carey, CMC

Rule of thumb for folding ingredients: always fold the lighter into the heavier (the egg whites into the batter, not the other way around). For best results, first mix in a quarter of the egg whites to lighten the batter, then fold in the rest.

Leftover lamb? Cut into strips and serve, hot or cold, with luscious ratatouille. It's a natural go-together.

When you caramelize sugar, be sure to swirl the pan so that it will brown evenly.

Packaged frosting mix tastes extra rich and creamy if you blend it with 3 ounces of softened cream cheese.

Picking the best: pears should be firm, not wilted or shriveled; they ripen from the inside out, so they're best when firm but not hard. Ripe Bartlett's are yellow with red blush; Anjous are green or greenish yellow.

Picking the best: for a tasty meal, choose Capt. Nemo's.

April is volunteer month

Both the Belleville City Council and the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees, in conjunction with the GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club, have declared April as Volunteer Month, and April 24 as GFWC Federation Day in their communities.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) is the largest, non-denominational, non-partisan international service organization of volunteer women in the world, with more than 10 million members in 46 countries worldwide. The GFWC was organized on April 24, 1890, and chartered by President William McKinley and the U.S. Congress on March 3, 1901. GFWC members continue to donate hundreds of thousands of volunteer hours annually to projects in the fields of Education, Art, International Affairs, Public Affairs, Conservation and Home Life.

The joint proclamation recognizes the importance of contributions made by the GFWC and its member clubs. The Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs, member GFWC, has 9410 members in 214 clubs throughout Michigan.

Any woman interested in more information about the MSFWC, or the GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club should contact president Nancy Sawyer at 697-0764.

9. Adjournment

4. Minutes of the 1983 Annual Meeting were read. Supervisor Reeves asked for corrections or additions. Mrs. Dienes stated that a motion she had made at the 1983 Annual Meeting was not in the minutes. She said her motion was that the Treasurer was to attend every Annual Meeting and if he could not be present, a representative from his office was to be at the meeting to answer questions regarding his office. She stated that Mr. Brown supported her motion. Mr. Brown said he did not. Deputy Clerk stated she would listen to the tape for the motion. Supervisor asked if she wanted to include this in this motion. She said she did. Motion by Mrs. Dienes, supported by Mr. Dienes to accept the Annual Meeting Minutes of 1983 with correction and add to the motion that the Treasurer or a representative of his office attend every Annual Meeting. Two ayes. Motion carried. J. Brown questioned the Supervisor as to who prepared the budget. The proposed budget is prepared by the Supervisor, Clerk and Treasurer along with the Auditor and is brought before the people and approved by the Board.

5. Correspondence - None

6. Acceptance of Petitions - None

7. Old Business

J. Brown asked if the Township Board approved the 1984-85 budget at the Board Meeting of March 27, 1984. Supervisor said it had been approved. Mr. Brown stated that he had not seen a copy of the budget. He was informed that it was published in the Belleville Enterprise that copies of the budget were available in the Clerk's Office. Mr. Brown spoke on the Recreation Budget as well as the Deputy Clerk's salary. J. Stalmack explained that these are only proposed figures. There is only so much money to spend and no more.

8. New Business

- A. Motion by G. Dienes, supported by V. Banotai to grant Board authority to purchase and sell Real Estate as in previous years. Motion carried unanimously.
- B. Re-affirm Regular Township Board Meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesday's of each month at 8:00 P.M. at 23480 Sumpter Road, Belleville, Michigan.

Keep it 'Belleville Lake'

What's in a name? Controversy ... the name happens to refer to the body of water that is located between the city of Belleville and Van Buren Township.

Known as "Belleville Lake," this source of beauty and recognition for the Belleville and Van Buren communities is the subject of debate these days. Several township officials are spearheading a drive to have the lake's name changed to "French Landing Lake" or "Van Buren Lake."

According to township historian Cathy Horste, "French Landing Lake is the appropriate name from a historical standpoint and fits in with plans to restore the French Landing Dam as a hydro-electric power producing plant."

Although named Edison Lake by the utility company when it built the dam in 1925, the lake is listed in modern maps as Belleville Lake and remains the only lake in Wayne County.

Belleville Lake has been and should continue to be a source of pride for residents living in Belleville and Van Buren. No city or township can truly own a lake ... it remains a property of the people.

The challenge then is not to rename the lake but rather to continue to explore ways to best use its existence. In that respect, the efforts of business owners to have the lake as a focal point of their campaign to rejuvenate the area is commended.

We agree with the assessment of Belleville Mayor Howard Stinehour, "They can name it what they want, but everyone's still going to call it Belleville Lake."

Renaming the lake at this time will only serve to divide rather than unify the communities of Belleville and Van Buren. Although only one mile of its shore is located in Belleville (19 miles are in Van Buren), the name "Belleville Lake" has served as a proper identifying nomenclature for years and should be retained.

If Belleville Lake becomes Van Buren Lake, can the "Pontiac" Lions and "Pontiac" Pistons be far behind?

Appreciation wanted

To the editor:

I am a waitress and very proud of it. Not many people could handle the work that I do. Waitress work is silent. You have to be a special kind of person to handle it, and you're right, I do feel special. I'm working with the public. Most of you are great.

But let me tell you what I make ... $2.50 an hour plus I am still taxed 8 percent on my wages. The only person really benefiting from my hard work is the government. Matter of fact, I hear they are getting a big kick out of it, or should I say, kick-back.

Oh, excuse me, did I say they were the only ones benefitting? Not hardly. For instance, let's talk about my boss. He respects none of us. His words and I quote, "You can be placed. Waitresses are a dime a dozen." He really knows how to hurt a person. Let me tell you, buddy, you're damn lucky to have me. I can only be replaced by someone as good as me and let me tell you, there are only a few. Do I sound like I'm bragging? Well, I am!!!

I'm over 30 years old. Not many people will hire women that old to be a waitress. They think we can't move like the young girls, or they think the customers appreciate young, pretty faces. What's wrong with an older, pretty face? As far as moving, we can run circles around any young girl anyway, and believe me, the customers are more interested in fast, efficient service than they are a pretty face.

Now, let's talk about all the tips I make. Sometimes they are good, but there are times they are not.

The people that don't tip are the ones that run my butt off. Most of you are regular customers and when you come in again, I still give you good service, and I am still taxed for the tip you should have left me.

Besides waiting on you, I have a thousand other things that I have to do. I clean, I scrub, and I do prep. I also take care of covering the cashier when she takes her break, and I don't wait on customers when I'm doing my extra work, but I'm certainly taxed for it and I still make $2.50 an hour along with the prep people.

Maybe it's time for me to get a sit-down job and just accept the fact that I'm growing old. What a waste.

All I am asking is to be appreciated. I work very hard. I not only benefit myself by trying to give the best service I'm capable of in order to make decent tips, I am benefiting you (my employer) by being friendly, happy, fast and, most of all, efficient. Those customers will be back and isn't that what it's all about?

Forgotten friends

The first thing I noticed about him was his obvious disinterest in conversation.

That alone would have piqued my curiosity, but there was something more about him that somehow intrigued me. I had gotten into his cab on one of Washington D.C.'s busiest streets, and being a frequent visitor to our nation's capitol, expected the usual deluge of small talk from the taxi driver. The strain and silence which was nearly palpable around this man was highly unorthodox in my experience with his professional counterparts.

"Nice day, isn't it?" I said. "Yes, it is," came the succinct reply, as I recall. Silence engulfed the moving cab.

The short, strained response had come with an accent, as is often the case with Washington drivers. "Where are you from?" I tried as a conversational gambit. My curiosity was at a fever pitch by now, prompted, I guess, by the attitude, the body language, the obvious distress of my companion. "Iran," came his brief answer.

"How long have you been here, in this country?" I queried, never being one to give up easily. Success at last. His tale began. He told me of his departure from Iran, of his father's service to the Shah of his country. He talked of living in Detroit with a cousin who is a heart surgeon, working in a city hospital. He poured out his story, apparently grateful that somebody cared enough, finally, to ask.

His mother, he said, had not been heard from for three years. He has a brother and a sister in this country. His sister has married an American citizen, so "she is safe." But he is not. He has applied for political asylum, afraid to return to his homeland.

"What would happen if you were forced to go back?" I inquired. "They would send me to fight the war in Iraq," came his quick response.

"Well, I'm sure you would look forward to that, wouldn't you?" was my attempt to offer a little comic relief to the tragic tale. "Not really," he laughed nervously.

He then explained that he was a student at George Washington University, studying computers. It had been more than a year since the Department of Immigration and Naturalization had received his plea for sanctuary. He had been pleading his case with no response and catalogued his frustration in attempting to make the bureaucracy understand that it was not safe for him to ever go home. His father, he explained, had been in charge of the senate post office during the Shah's regime, and although my friend had now discovered his father's whereabouts, he was uncertain of his parent's welfare.

Old friends. How often, as a country, we forget them. It seems we grow somehow weary under the burden of carrying the load of relationships such as the one we knew in Iran. And yet, when past allies become less than friendly, if not overtly hostile, we feel the loss. Under the classification of politics, we have experienced so many times the change of alliances, the exchange of political camps.

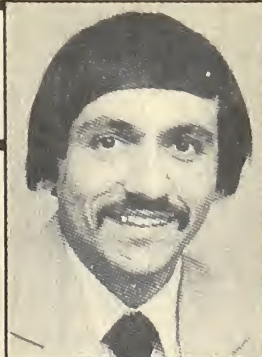

How many lost souls are there in the world of Vietnamese or Cambodian heritage who are living victims of political estrangements? How many others, from myriads of other countries, have been lost in the winds of governmental hurricanes? How many have been pulled into the whirlpool of human existence by circumstance and condition not of their choosing and certainly out of their control?

Some things, we know, are beyond our efforts to harness or control. The "learn the difference between what we can change and what we can't" axiom offers a great deal of wisdom and truth for us all. Sometimes we do not change the things we can, or appreciate the fact that we do have that degree of control.

My Iranian friend, with tomorrow's fate uncertain, wheels his cab through the streets of Washington attempting to derive an income to pay for his college studies. He is hoping for an opportunity to pursue the option of choice. A chance to choose, to control, even moderately, his own fate, something we all take for granted every day. We have the ability, in this country, to determine our own destiny.

Perhaps more of our time and energy should be spent in being grateful for the opportunity — for that freedom of choice. It would seem that all of us need to appreciate what we still do have, rather than immersing ourselves in bemoaning the lack of things we wish we had.

See you next week.

After more than one year on the job, Mack scores top grades even from Lucas opponents.

"Mack seems to take things an issue at a time," commented one high ranking UAW official. "We don't always agree with him but we don't expect to either. He's doing a good job."

One political observer noted that "at first people felt Mack was kissing (bleep) by the way he was always going along with Lucas. Now he's respected for taking care of his constituents.

He's certainly sharper than most of them (commissioners)."

Adequate child care is a federal issue

As a nation, we must deal with the increasing need for child care for the many school-aged children who must fend for themselves while their parents are at work. Some estimate that there are 2 million school-aged children under 4 who are unattended during before- and after-school hours. Others say that up to 6 million school-aged children are in this situation. What does not vary is the increased need registered to local program providers.

The existing child care programs are too few in number to accommodate these children. In addition, most existing programs are ill-equipped to deal with the special physical and developmental needs of school-aged children.

There is some divergence of opinion over the incidence of mental and physical harm resulting from lack of supervision, boredom or isolation. However, the National Safety Council reports that more than 6,000 unattended children aged 5-14 die each year from unintentional injuries, including more than 1,000 in fires. The likelihood of accidents continues to be of major concern to parents. A 1983 survey of families in Virginia and Minnesota found that most parents of unattended school-age children worried about accidents. The study was conducted by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and included families with children aged 5 to 14.

Traditionally, the mother of the family has been the primary caretaker. This conception of the family is changing, as economic reality has resulted in 59 percent of all mothers with children under 18 entering the work force. This percentage represents 18 million women, whose needs for adequate and affordable child care services are largely unmet.

Current child care initiatives are helpful, but inadequate. For instance, indirect federal assistance for child care is provided in the form of tax credits for child care expenses. Tax credits are helpful to many middle and upper income families, but they do not directly assist communities and service providers in meeting the need for child care services. Title XX social service funds also are a very important source of indirect federal support for child care. But Title XX funding is insufficient and most communities use their Title XX child care funds to serve preschool-aged children.

The School Facilities Child Care Act, sponsored by Senator Don Riegle (D-Michigan) and Congresswoman Patricia Schroeder (D-Colorado), is a step in the right direction. Under the bill, approximately $15 million to $30 million would be authorized for grants to nonprofit organizations to conduct child care programs in public school buildings before and after school.

The use of already existing public school facilities can be cost-effective approach for many communities and child care service providers. Schools may have unused classrooms and other facilities that can be put to productive use in serving the community. Unlike most existing child care facilities, which are not designed for school-aged children, school facilities already have the right sized chairs and tables, rest rooms and drinking fountains.

Equally important, a school-based child care program can help to improve the relationship between the school and parents, as the schools demonstrate their understanding of one of the biggest problems facing working parents, and demonstrate their willingness to help.

Use of public school facilities as child care sites will especially benefit the many working parents who cannot leave their jobs during the day to accompany their children from school to child care facilities. These parents will have the satisfaction of knowing that their children can easily make a safe transition from school to after-school care.

There are some members of Congress who do not think that child care is a federal issue. We should remember that, at one time, highways were not a federal issue. Nor were wage and hour or food and drug purity laws considered federal issues. But as our society evolved, so did our concept of the role of the federal government. If we fail to act, not only will we have failed our children, we will have failed as a nation. It has been said that the moral test of government is how that government treats those in the dawn of life, the children

Crime and punishment

To the editor:

In the last few days I have read in the newspaper about the beating death of a four-year-old child; a Bloomfield Township (Oakland County) father who was shot in cold blood by two robbers as his family looked on in horror; two sons who went to visit their elderly mother in Detroit and were robbed and murdered in her driveway; nine homicides this last weekend in Detroit, Michigan's largest city once again awarded the dubious distinction of "Murder Capital."

Tragically, the criminal justice system is breaking down. Violent crime is epidemic. It is not only necessary, but timely for me to announce my second petition drive to reinstate capital punishment in Michigan for the crime of murder.

Capital punishment deters the crime of murder. The many significant studies in support of this proposition are compelling, to and including the support of the United States Supreme Court on this specific point.

Even if it could be demonstrated that capital punishment does not deter murder, there would still be a need for the death penalty for that particular crime on the basis that justice demands it. Basically, it is a punishment that fits the crime. So highly do we value life, the inherent message with capital punishment is that we will not tolerate those who callously kill. It is time that we put a premium on the victim's life in Michigan.

I invite anyone who supports capital punishment, as I do, to help me circulate petitions to place this question on the ballot before the Michigan public. If you would like to become a petition circulator, please write me at 1200 North Telegraph Road, Pontiac, 48053.

be completely honest with them, so I don't say: "I'm a roaring success!" Rather, I say: "I'm trying!" The meaning is: I'm not setting back on my "haunches" doing nothing. I am doing something (my job or whatever) in the very best manner I know how!

We "triers" are not failures because we try — we are successes because we try! It is a case of trying as opposed to not trying.

Trying doesn't mean failure

To the editor:

According to David Willett's column (3-28-84) entitled "Trying," everyone who says "I'm trying" is in actuality admitting to a predisposed nature of failure. I am in disagreement.

I personally feel that anyone who "tries" is better than someone who "does not try." If someone asks me: "How ya doin'?", I want to

Mack, a lawyer by trade, gets a bit defensive when the talk about his pro-Lucas image is mentioned.

"People forget that I was a supporter of (John) Hertel first and then (Ed) McNamara for the county executive's job," Mack declared. "I didn't even support Lucas for the position but I always have been a strong advocate of a strong chief executive. It's important to have somebody accountable."

"Under the old system people were powerless and helpless to hold anyone accountable. What you had then was the functional equivalent of taxation without representation.

"The executive has addressed the county's ability to pay its bills but there's still a tendency in (the executive's) office to antagonize the commissioners."

With everyone saying nice things about Milt Mack, can a rosy political future be on the horizon? Or will his independence leave him without a base of support?

"I plan to seek re-election for another term," he revealed last week. "After that, who knows what the future will bring?"

I can't help but sense that a rising political star has begun to shine.

A matter of ethics

The media — also known as television and print journalists — has often been accused of abusing its rights under the first amendment. We have been accused of creating the news, rumor mongering and perpetuating falsehoods.

I suppose at any given point in time the answer to any one of those accusations would be yes. Somewhere at sometime on this planet, someone is, or has been, victimized by an overzealous journalist out for that big story that will make or break his or her career. The essence of that person was personified in literature and on the screen in a recent book and movie of the same name, "Absence of Malice."

Granted, at any given time we can make or break a person. By the whirr of a camera or the pounding of a typewriter, we can portray a person as no good dirty rat or the next best thing to Joan of Arc. There is power in the word, both spoken and written, and it is why many of us in this profession go to extreme means to prove what we say is not falsehood, but fact.

But then again there are those of us who become so involved in what we do that we lose sight of what is true and not true. Yes, we listen to rumors. More times than not those rumors contain a grain of truth. More times than not the discerning reporter uses his talents (yes, Virginia, it does take talent to do this job), his sense of caution and a nose for news to find out what is grandiose and what is fact.

Ah, but there are those of us who do not take the time to do that and for that reason the profession as a whole is tarnished by those well-founded accusations of misrepresentation and sensationalism.

It has only been eight months since I last wore the hat of news editor at Associated Newspapers. It was not an easy role to fill then and is even more so now. But as I assume this job again I would like to make one thing — to quote a famous, but somewhat notorious person — perfectly clear. Rumor has it that it is as the result of a story which appeared in last week's Wayne and Westland editions, which focused on alleged misconduct by two members of the Wayne-Westland Board of Education, I got this "big promotion."

If that were the case then my byline would not read ANP News Editor. My honesty and integrity cannot be bought for a mere title. If that were the case, then the masthead of those two editions should carry some indication that we affiliated with a notorious national tabloid that has been accused of pandering falsehoods.

I take offense to such rumors. I guess because I have been the brunt of so few. Most I shrug off with a laugh or a snappy comment, but this I can't. I did not spend four long years at Wayne State University in the best journalism school in the state to have my ethics assaulted. My ethics are not for sale, and those that know me know that. I respect a person's right to make comments off the record. I try, and admittedly I am only human and may fail at times, to get the facts straight.

I have chosen not to judge those who I mentioned in my article; and yes, it was the result of listening to rumors . . . rumors that were not spread within the walls of Associated Newspapers, but within the boundaries of the Wayne-Westland Schools. It was, I have to admit, a rumor I had heard years ago, but had shrugged off, that a bell sounded in my head at a school board meeting. My curiosity was aroused.

To those who would try to discredit my field, I say, go ahead. I stand by what I write. If you justified in such criticism, feel free. Yes, I am news editor of Associated Newspapers, but it is a job that was given to me out of respect for my work.

Some may snigger and ask how it feels to have the shoe on the other foot . . . but they did not sit for 10 weeks in a Law of the Press class that drummed into the heads of future reporters what is right and what is wrong.

I know right from wrong, and if I by chance cross that fine line I would hope you, the public, will let me know. There only a few things I hold dear . . . my family, my profession and my ethics.

MOORADIAN

The silence was immense as John Berrington maneuvered his wheelchair near the master of ceremonies. His face, etched with emotions, reflected the agony of a man who was proud and for some strange twist of fate was made humble.

A lesser man would have probably succumbed to fate.

"I want you to know that I really appreciate what you all have done for me," Berrington said. "God bless all of you."

What this crowd of 250 persons, mostly members of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League, had accomplished was to raise more than $3,000 toward the purchase of a specially-equipped wheelchair.

Berrington, a quadriplegic, does not have the use of his body and hands. In order to maneuver the special wheelchair a unique breathing device is needed to activate the wheelchair's mechanism.

Berrington played hockey in the league before that ill-fated dive in the lake five years ago. He was the "guest of honor" at the annual Wayne-Westland hockey banquet staged Saturday at the Wayne Ice Arena facilities.

In making the presentation of the check, master of ceremonies Ed Spontack, noted "... that we hope our efforts will brighten John's life. It is an honor and a pleasure to know him and this is but a small token of our appreciation."

The drama did not end with the ceremony.

A raffle followed and as each winner was declared, the winner immediately turned over the prize to the fund.

Howard Flemming, a senior member of the league who, although in his "sixties" competes for Futurama, won the $300 first place raffle money and he donated the prize to the fund. As each of the winners were announced, they, too, offered the money to help purchase the wheelchair.

Even the kitchen crew got into the act. Pat Brown, owner-proprietor of Mic-Dago Pub, whose employees helped to prepare the food donated $100.

"There are many skeptics who don't believe that men are basically good. I wish that they were here to see the emotion and drama in this room," Spontack said. "There is an unexplicable feeling about all of this. I hope those who read your column are touched by all of this."

"The people who responded to our plea for help have come through again. Believe me, there are a lot of good people out there."

Others are also rallying around the cause. The Garden City Lions Club and the United Foundation have pledged financial aid.

"The reason why John needs a new wheelchair is because the one he has is very obsolete. They can't find parts for it partially due to the fact that the mechanism is obsolete," Spontack said.

Because the new chair is operated by a mouth breathing mechanism, the cost of the wheelchair is phenomenal — $7,000. Spontack said that donations are still needed. If you haven't but wish to contribute, send your donation to Berrington Fundraiser, attention Ed Spontack, 711 South Hawthorne, Westland, 48185.

On a different note, two young Tiger fans are angry ... but let's let them tell you why. Dear Mr. Mooradian, Getting tickets to a major event in Detroit can be a nightmare. You can wait in line at the box office for up to 10 hours and come away with nothing but frustration.

Being one of the first five persons in line doesn't assure you of anything either.

Usually the best tickets are gone. Also, don't turn to the personal ads in the newspapers, either. In both the Detroit News and the Free Press there are ads from people to sell tickets to major athletic and entertainment shows, but they ask for four and sometimes five times the original price of the ticket.

Isn't that illegal?

The City of Detroit which owns Joe Louis Arena, Cobo Hall and Tiger Stadium stress "scalping" tickets are illegal, but yet they do little to solve the problem.

If the city is going to own these arenas, then city officials should be responsible for what happens to and with these tickets.

Unseasonal cold, rain can't stop prep baseball teams

Despite the unseasonal cold and rainy weather, most of the area high school baseball clubs launched the 1984 campaign last week.

Westland John Glenn took on natural rival Wayne Memorial (Story on Page 2-B) on the Rocket turf Saturday and the Westlanders came back from a 3-2 opening day defeat to salvage the nightcap of the twin bill, 17-3.

Belleville was slated to begin Wolverine "A" Conference action Monday without the benefit of a non-conference tune-up. Coach Tom Fielder said that the biggest question mark the team has this year is its pitching.

"We're inexperienced on the mound," said Fielder whose Tigers won the final Suburban 8 Conference championship a year ago despite an over-all 10-13 won-lost record. "We only have five regulars back from last year's team, so we're going to be rebuilding."

One bright spot in the Tiger line-up is Keith Riling, who batted a hefty .310 a year ago and was one of the top players last summer in the tough Adray League.

"Keith is a good one and this team will need him to play a leadership role," Fielder stressed. "Right now, there are too many question marks to really assess this team."

Fielder and Wayne Memorial's veteran Coach Jim Chronowski agree with the rest of the Wolverine "A" pack that Tom Noland and his Railsplitters at Lincoln Park High are the top contenders for the league title.

"Noland has been coaching over there for 32 years," Chronowski pointed out, "and I don't recall a year when Tom hasn't had a contender."

Informed that Wayne was picked right behind Lincoln Park in the chase for the title, Chronowski replied: "I think they figured that we had a lot of kids back from last year's championship team. We don't. We're in what I like to call a 'reconstruction year.'"

Fielder however sees the Tigers as a "middle of the pack" team.

"This league (Wolverine "A") is made up of some of the powers of the Suburban 8 and Great Lakes 8 conferences and even if we were loaded with veterans it would be tough," Fielder added.

Belleville will have three other solid performers in its line-up with senior Ron Schubert, who batted .260 a year

(See TIGERS Page 2-B)

Cage champs

Posting a 5-1 won-lost conference record, Westland St. John's Lutheran girls' "A" cage team captured a share of the 1983-84 championship, then won the conference tourney by beating Peace of Livonia 33-20, Trinity of Ohio, 23-20, and St. Paul's of Livonia in the championship, game 18-16. Members of the team include Patti Bennett (first row, from left), Ginger O'Brien, Jenny Dengel, Gwen Brown, Chantal Clark, and Kristi Wisniskie; second row are Coach Lori Bartholmew, Theresa Williams, Andrea Piontek, Robin Tafelski, Cathy Pyle, Jodie Daksiewicz and assistant coach Tod Bartholmew. The Leopards finished the year with an enviable 12-2 record.

Romulus sets sights on Metro West title

Dennis Stoh enters his 10th season as Romulus High's head baseball coach with two goals on his mind: win the newly-organized Metro-West Conference baseball title and post an over-all winning season.

To reach those lofty goals, Stoh has a handful of veterans returning off of a team that won 12 of its 23 games a year ago.

"We have some smart and good players on this year's club," noted Stoh, "but we're going to have to wait to see how they pan out."

The Eagles were scheduled to start the 1984 campaign last Thursday but their game with Southgate was rained out. So was a doubleheader with Cherry Hill on Saturday washed out. They began a busy week of make-ups and regular games Monday (at home to Willow Run); Tuesday at home to Dundee and will play a doubleheader today at home with Ypsilanti Lincoln. The make-up with Southgate is scheduled for Thursday.

Rich Dybicki and Rex Boatright have been designated as the Eagles' co-captains. Dybicki returns to the starting line-up after an outstanding season a year ago. He'll play third and is one of the starting pitchers. Last year he posted a 4-2 won-lost record on the mound. He also batted over .300 for the past two seasons.

Boatright will handle the shortstop chores. He's also a power at the plate.

"I sincerely believe that Dybicki can, if he has any kind of season at all, break most of the Romulus' batting records," Stoh said. "He's been a three year starter for this team."

Also in the starting nucleus are holdovers Lowell Smith, a solid second baseman, centerfielder Bob Sloan and first baseman Dave Blevins.

Stoh will use Blevins, a strong righthander, sophomore Tony Yandura, also a righty, and southpaw David Bergman to complete his pitching rotation.

He has a corps of promising and enthusiastic candidates to fill a line-up that was ruffled by graduation.

"We're going to play about 15 doubleheaders this season so that our kids can pick up the experience we need to compete," Stoh pointed out. "I believe we will have a good season if everything falls into place."

And what about the new league?

"It's a good league," Stoh said. "Taylor Center and Kennedy, along with Oak Park, traditionally have fielded excellent ball clubs."

Wayne, Glenn split in opener

Rockets bomb Zebras in nightcap

It was the best of times and the worst of times for both the Rockets of Westland John Glenn and the Zebras of Wayne Memorial as these two longtime rivals opened the 1984 baseball season last Saturday by splitting a doubleheader.

Wayne prevailed in the opener, 3-2, as Paul Cavanaugh clouted a two-run homer in the fourth inning. But the Rockets came back in the nightcap, 17-2, as they tallied 14 runs in the first two innings.

Coach Norm Hoenes, starting his 19th season at the helm of the Rockets, was pleased with the over-all performance of his team saying, "the defense was good, the pitching was good, but the hitting was shaky. To be real good, we have to hit."

Former Baltimore Orioles

manager Earl Weaver would have been proud of the Zebras on this day. Weaver always said the key to winning games was "good pitching and three-run homers."

Wayne had both of those ingredients in their first game win. David Daye and Linton provided the pitching. They limited Glenn to seven hits and Linton bailed Wayne out of a bases-loaded situation with nobody out in the seventh inning. Cavanaugh supplied the power as he hit a pitch through a strong wind over the right field fence.

Wayne got a run in the first inning off Rocket starting pitcher, senior Don Wolfe, as Tony Zerna was plunked by a pitch and came around the bases to score on singles by Bob Millyard and Joe Darkangelo and a ground out by Mike DeLozier.

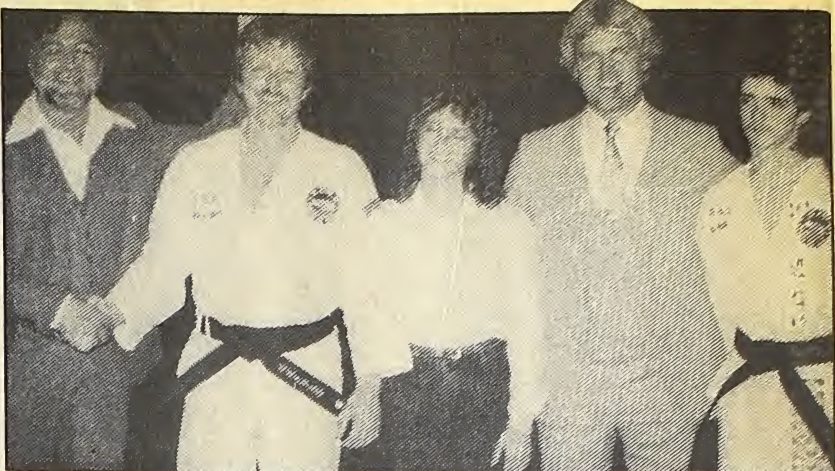

Glenn came back to tie it in their half of the first. Simpson, the junior shortstop, who anchors Coach Hoenes infield, led off with a single and Jason McKarge walked. With two out, centerfielder Bruce Billings hit a ball to third which handcuffed the third baseman, allowing Simpson to score.

Then came the fateful fourth for the Rockets. Dave Reynolds singled, moved to second on a wild pitch, and rode home on Cavanaugh's home run.

The Rockets gave Wayne Coach Jim Chronowski grey hair in the seventh as consecutive singles by Steve Irwin, Wolfe, and Simpson loaded the bases. But Linton, brought in to pitch the final four innings, struck out McKarge and Bob Kujawski and got Glenn Belcher to fly out to left to preserve the win.

But the Rockets may not have had that chance to win the game if it hadn't been for the strong relief pitching of sophomore Steve Irwin, who retired all nine batters he faced, the last six on strikes. Irwin, the younger brother of former Rockets John and Jim, "never got nervous. He's a real cool customer. He did a nice job."

Karate promotions

Westland karate students proved they learned their lessons well as they executed a score of drills that earned them higher ranks. Dean Cruickshank, 31, and Robert Brooks, 15, were awarded the rank of First Degree Black Belt in Tae Kwon Do American Chung Do Kwan. Both students have been training under the watching eyes of Deborah Ison at the Westland Bailey Recreation Center. Pictured above, from left, are master instructor George Modos, Dean Cruickshank, senior instructor Deborah Ison, Master Raymond Sell and Robert Brooks.

The Rockets came roaring back in the second game with a 17-2 victory, scoring eight runs in the first and six in the second. Simpson led the way with four rbis, while Dave Husak and McKarge garnered two apiece to lead the onslaught. Tony Boles, the sophomore tailback from Coach Chuck Gordon's football squad, started his first game in center field and scored three runs and stole a base adding an extra dimension to the Rockets' attack this season.

"He's got great speed," said Hoenes. "He's such a good athlete and he'll be a factor before the year is out."

Jeff Nieman and Bill Perdue split the pitching duties in this one, combining on a seven-hitter.

Perdue allowed the only two Wayne runs to score in the fifth inning. Chris Kaske and Cavanaugh walked with one out, and scored on back-to-back singles by Kwan Hearn and Reynolds, with the latter tallying both RBIs.

Glenn now takes its 1-1 record on the road this week to league rival North Farmington, Belleville, and Dearborn Edsel Ford.

A winning season

St. Aloysius' Sabers emerged from the 1983-84 cage wars with a winning 7-3 record thanks to team members Eddie Hontz (front row), Paul Saval, Anthony Williams, Keith Brothers, Coach Tom Singer (back row, from left), Ron Rakotz, Ron Nelson, Brent Bonhan and Mike Cadden.

Softball teams needed for tourney

If you're the manager of a women's softball team, Dena Davis would like to talk to you.

Davis this week announced that a women's softball league will be formed at Local 735, UAW. Applications are being accepted for both morning and evening leagues.

The teams will play 11 games and there will be a tournament at the end of the year.

A May 8 deadline has been set for the $200 registration fee.

For further information please contact Davis at 482-3982.

A spring softball tournament is slated in Wayne at the Leonard Anderson Field for May 5 and May 6. There is a $100 entry fee and teams will play at least three games.

For further information, contact Ted Rize at 728-7828.

Romulus sweeps twin bill

Romulus launched the 1984 girls' softball season on Saturday by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader with Ypsilanti. Coach Fred Coleman's club won the opener 16-3 behind Roxane Patterson's two-hitter. Patterson also was the winning pitcher in the nightcap, 7-3.

"We have a blend of experience and young enthusiastic players on this team," said Coleman who began his fourth year as the Eagles' head coach. "If the pieces fit, I believe this team can go a long way."

Romulus erupted for 13 runs in the first inning against the Braves as the winners batted around twice. A four-run first inning in the second game was enough to win it.

Patterson worked the first three innings in the opener and was relieved by Lori King who finished up. Deanna and Jackie Pochmara had an excellent day at the plate as Deanna belted two hits in three trips and her sister contributed two for two with two RBIs. Tammy Kushner knocked in three runs.

Patterson went the distance in the second game as she struck out six, walked seven and gave up six hits. In the first ining, Patterson singled, Kim Doss and Deanna Pochara each singled and scored when Dawn Prost drilled a three-run double.

The Eagles have the rest of the week off and will resume play on Monday when they clash with Lutheran West in an away game. Romulus will open the home phase of the season on Wed., April 18 against Willow Run. Both games are scheduled to begin at 4 p.m.

The Romulus junior varsity also swept the Braves 27-6 and 13-3.

Former SAC cage greats play in Outreach benefit

Former basketball stars from the Suburban Athletic Conference will get together on April 17 to play in a benefit game for the Inkster-based Outreach Mission.

The mission is located at 28426 Michigan Avenue.

Those who pay the $3 admission price will be able to watch stars from Ecorse, Inkster, Robichaud, Oak Park, River Rouge, Romulus and Willow Run tangle in the benefit.

The game will be staged at Dearborn Heights Robichaud, 3601 Janet. Game time is 7 p.m.

The Outreach Mission offers assistance to drug addicts, alcoholics, battered wives and those who are in need of counseling and clothing, according to Savannah Thomas, director. For further information, telephone 722-0311 or 277-2216.

Coaching the two teams will be veteran cage mentors George Thompson, Jr. (Inkster High), William Ayler (Robichaud), Lofton Green (River Rouge) and Ron Tarrant (Willow Run).

At halftime, Demetrius Gore, considered "Mr. Basketball", will perform and sing some of the popular ballets of the contemporary music scene.

ago, senior Glen Arquette, who finished with a .280 batting average, and second baseman Randy LaMasters. Two others, Bob Courter, who will play short and also is slated to see action on the mound, and catcher Mike Pansey, lettered a year ago, but were not starters.

"We'll also get help from last year's junior varsity squad.

"We had an excellent junior varsity team a year ago," said Fielder, "and obviously these kids will be joining the ones we had on the championship club.

AL East is the toughest division this year

The American League East is the best division in professional baseball by far, in my opinion.

Last season the Detroit Tigers had the third best record in the Major Leagues, but still finished six games behind the World Champions Baltimore Orioles. This year will be a real dogfight from top to the bottom of the standings.

And here's how I look at the Division.

RON CAMERON

1. DETROIT. Off to a flying start, this team is much improved what with the signing of free agent Darrell Evans, a power hitting first baseman, and adding Willie Hernandez, a good lefty reliever and Dave Bergman, in a trade with Philadelphia.

Up the middle lies the Tigers' real strength. It's by far the best in the big leagues, offensively and defensively. Pitching is solid, with starters Jack Morris, who threw a no-hitter against Chicago last Saturday, and Dan Petry forming a 1-2 punch that's second to none.

Bullpen is strong with Hernandez and Aurelio Lope good secondary pitching. Hitting is very good.

The Tigers have a good chance of leading the Major Leagues in home runs as well as runs scored. Team speed is good. It'll be a fight to the end but Detroit will end up on top.

2. BALTIMORE. '83 Champs only made a couple of minor changes but it's still a solid club. Top notch starting pitching as well as a good bullpen. Probably the best staff in the league just ahead of Detroit. Weak at second base and question mark at third.

Shortstop Cal Ripken '83 MVP, and first baseman Eddie Murray are superstars and will get even better. Team has below average speed. Outfield is strong, even though all three positions are being platooned. The Birds play their best ball in the second half of the season, so don't count them out even if the Tigers build up a big lead. But I still stay Baltimore will come up a little short.

3. TORONTO — Surprise team of '83. Make no bones about it. Last year was no fluke. This is a solid young team that will get better each year. Improved themselves with the signing of free agent relief pitcher Dennis Lamp. Last year, the Blue Jays bullpen was a disaster, especially the second half of the season when the team fell from first place. Starting pitching is solid, headed by Dave Stieb. Lack of good lefthander on the staff will hurt, as it did last season. Catching, split between Ernie Whitt and Buck Martinez is solid both offensively and defensively. Good infield and outfield. Hitting is fine with one exception. Not patient enough. Too much free swinging. Toronto is the team to watch in the next couple of years. Not experienced enough now, will just beat out Milwaukee for third place.

4. MILWAUKEE — After winning the Division and Pennant in '82, lost two Cy Young Award winners in Pete Vuckovich and Rollie Fingers due to arm injuries, and fell from contention. Vuckovich probably won't pitch this season, if ever again. But Fingers is back and if he returns to form the Milwaukee bullpen is in great shape. Pete Ladd did a real good job last year, replacing Fingers. Starting pitching is weak and too old. Hitting is good but not quite as strong as the lineup of '82.

Infield is as good as any in the Majors.

Catching is in good hands with Jim Sundberg, picked up in a trade with Texas. Sundberg was the league's best defensive catcher for years. He slipped some the last year or two but I think he just needed a change of scenery. Milwaukee is a good team, but not as good as '82 and other teams have passed them by.

5. NEW YORK — Problems upon problems. Owner George Steinbrenner's meddling and loss of Goose Gossage to free agency prevents the Yankees from winning the Division or even coming close.

Moving Dave Righetti to the bullpen to replace Gossage was not a smart move.

Righetti is a fine young starter who's had some arm problems and moving him to the pen will only compound his problems, and weaken the unproven starting rotation.

Team has question marks at shortstop, first base, centerfield and catching. Also, too much bickering. Good Luck, Yogi Berra. You have too much class to manage the Bronx zoo. Steinbrenner should manage his own team. After all, as the saying goes, misery loves company.

6. BOSTON — Only if pitchers Dennis Eckersly and Mark Clear bounce back after a pathetic season last year. Otherwise last place. Outfield is probably the best in baseball offensively and defensively with the trio of Jim Rice, Tony Armas and Dwight Evans capable of hitting 90 or more home runs between them. '83 batting champ Wade Boggs, a third baseman, anchors an infield that is weak defensively and lacks speed and power.

Catching is a weak spot as well as starting pitching even if Eckersly comes back.

Bullpen will be strong if Clear returns to form. Bob Stanley is one of the best relievers around.

7. CLEVELAND — Probably the fastest team in baseball, but that's about it. Oh, they do have Rick Sutcliffe, who had a great year in '83 to head their pitching staff. But unless sore-armed Bert Blivven bounces back the starting pitching is a disaster. Dan Spillner, their ace reliever in '82, fell flat on his face last season and worried the club enough they picked up George Frazier from the Yankees, who has proven to be a stopper. He's more a follow-the-leader. They did pick up speed merchant outfielders Otis Nixon and Brett Butler in trades and to go along with the much talented but moody and erratic shortstop Julio Franco and second baseman Tony Bernazard. Cleveland should lead the Majors in stolen bases. Not much power and a question mark behind the plate.

If everything goes right, sixth place. But I pick the Indians for last place.

If it's any consolation they'll have the best last place team in baseball, but as I said earlier this is the best division in baseball.

Ron Cameron is host of Sports Talk from 4 to 5 p.m. weekdays on WCAR 1090 AM. His show will originate from Tom's Tavern, on Michigan Avenue between Merriman and Venoy, in Wayne Saturday night.

Ex-Cherry Hill cager ends UM-D career

Hudson 'plays over' injuries to star for Wolfpack

It was a typical Pierre Hudson play. The University of Michigan-Dearborn senior used a burst of speed to come out of nowhere and cleanly swipe the basketball from the Spring Arbor guard. He raced down court and drove to the basket for a sure two-point lay-up.

Only it wasn't. Hudson dropped the ball halfway up, crashed to the floor and rolled on his back in pain. It's no coincidence that when the 6-foot-1 guard who starred at Cherry Hill High departed from the game because of a severe muscle cramp, the Wolves lost their lead minutes later. Nor is it a coincidence that anytime U of M-D wins this season, the Inkster guard has a superb night.

Pierre has been our glue this year," said U of M-D coach Jon Rutherford. "He has remarkable athletic ability. But it's been his consistency that we've counted on.

"He hasn't missed a game, in fact he hadn't missed two many minutes until that injury against Spring Arbor."

Injuries have been the Hudson's only draw back in his brilliant athletic career. It's a career that stretches from his prep days in Inkster to his final basketball games at U of M-Dearborn. It's a career that has been filled with honors ... and, unfortunately, injuries.

For three years Hudson was a starting guard and a stand-out on the Cherry Hill High School basketball team. Twice his team advanced to the regional finals of the class B state tournament before they were knocked out. He finished his senior season with a 17-point average and all-league honors and then turned his attention to the school's track where he was a superb long jumper and sprinter. A sure bet all spring to make it to the state meet, Pierre injured his leg in the regionals and missed his golden opportunity in his final year in high school.

Crushing setback number one.

He went on to Henry Ford Community College where he played on the school's basketball team and distinguished himself again on the track team. Hudson was named a NJCAA All-American for his long jump effort of 23-feet-11 in 1981. The next year he transferred next door to University of Michigan-Dearborn to continue his studies and to play basketball for the Wolves.

The first practice on the first day he was with the team Hudson went up for a rebound and "just came down wrong". The result was a broken ankle and a cast from his hip to his toe.

Crushing setback number two.

That was a bummer and I'm not even talking about the pain," said Hudson. "I missed the whole season because of that injury."

But he made it up the following season. Hudson returned to pace the Wolves in 1982-83 in scoring with a 16.2 average while setting a school record for most points in a single season with 469 in 29 games. He was second on the squad with assists with 119.

This season he returned and was asked by new coach Rutherford to sacrifice the glory of scoring for the importance of playmaking.

"We asked him to be a differ-rent type of player," said Rutherford. "He went from a shooting guard to a playmaker. His point productivity went down but as far as being valuable to us ... nobody is more important than Pierre.

"And I think it showed when he was injured against Spring Arbor."

Crushing setback number three. But not for Hudson as much as it was for the Wolves. U of M-Dearborn lost the outing to Spring Arbor as well as the following game against Siena Heights when the squad played without its starting point guard.

But when he is healthy, the Wolves are strong. Against Hope College, Hudson was devastating and U of M-D came within two points of knocking off the Flying Dutchmen who entered the game ranked number one in the nation for NCAA Division III schools. In a rematch against Siena Heights, the Wolves overran the team the second time, 102-79, with Hudson directing the team and picking up seven assists.

"Hope was definitely his best game," said Rutherford of Hudson's 24-point effort that included 10 of 11 free throws. "The number one team came in here and he took the challenge. He had them worried right up to the final shot of the night."

As for his scoring productivity this season, it was down. But Hudson is still one of the Wolves' top scorers and after 27 games this year he had 291 points, three less than the team leader Robert Brusco. His average is 11.2 points per game while pacing the team in assists with 65.

As for his future ... his playing days are almost over but his involvement in athletics has just begun. Hudson would like to go into coaching and has begun the transition from player to coach by assisting the girl's track team at Cherry Hill for the past two springs.

But someone else also wants to add Hudson to his staff.

PIERRE HUDSON

"He wants to help coach next year," said Rutherford. "We'd like to have him at U of M-D. After watching him this season, I know he could teach our kids a lot about basketball."

And maybe a few things about avoiding injuries.

Tastee Freez is playoff champ

Mic-Dago Pub loses playoff thriller, 3-2

Tastee Freez reigns as the 1983-84 season Over 30 hockey champ in the Wayne-Westland Conference.

The champs earned the distinction by knocking off Mic-Dago Pub in the playoff series, 3-2.

Arnie Cox, Ralph Tack and Terry Johnson accounted for the scoring with Keith Middaugh, Roger Lemkie, Rick Rattai, Conrad Madaleno and goalie Tim Vanderburgh picking up the all important assists.

Mic-Dago's got on the scoreboard on goals scored by Tom Bryans and Ken Murray. Bryans also picked up one assist while Jim Creekmore received two assists.

In another consolation game, Little Bill's Trophies and All Sorts Sports skated to a 4-4 tie. Bob Jones and Al Farina tallied twice for All Sorts with John Kunz picking up two assists. Dave Weaver, Ed Spontack, Tim Potts and George Sharpe finished with one assist.

Jerry Robertson, Dave Milam and Terry Boote each scored one goal and picked up one assist for Little Bill's. Bob Wood accounted for the remaining goal. George Murphy, John Couture and Larry Kaifesh finished with one assist.

In what turned out to be a high-scoring contest, Brock Builders handed Family Heating a 13-9 loss. Rick Wolkowicz scored five goals and picked up four assists for Brock's. Tom DiLaura tallied for three goals; Mike Adamson and John Colligan scored one goal and picked up two assists. John Clearwood and Layne Cardinal finished the game with one goal and one assist. Ron Jacobs rounded out the scoring with one goal.

Paul Mayworm received two assists while John Davis picked up one assist.

Family Heating's Ron Wojewski tallied for three goals and three assists. Joe Soukup rattled the net for two goals and two assists; Bob Murray scored twice and received one assist.

Paul Cramer and Terry Taylor accounted for a goal apiece. Ray Ericksen received three assists; George Klempert finished with two assists while Nick Palise and Dan Kubany picked up one assist.

This week's action completed the 1983-84 Wayne Westland Men's Over 30 hockey league season.

DIRE STRAITS
"Alchemy"
(Warner Bros.)

It's hard to figure out Dire Straits. "Sultans of Swing," the band's first single back in November of 1978 was admittedly a very good song, but it had Bob Dylan written all over it. Many thought it was Dylan, because surely there couldn't be two nasal-tinged monotoned voices like that, could there?

The answer was, of course, an unqualified and resounding yes. Since then, the band has released three albums and one ripping E.P., all without much fanfare or airplay, and yet they sell out concert halls and their records inevitably go gold or platinum (sales of over one million units).

Why? One listen to "Alchemy," the band's new double live LP explains it. The answer is guitarist Mark Knopfler.

'Blithe Spirit' offered

Pamela Fisher of Westland and Lisa Hagelthorn of Dearborn will play the featured roles in the Garden City Civic Theatre presentation of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the O'Leary Center, 6500 Middlebelt, Garden City.

Tickets are priced at $4 for adults and $3 for students and seniors.

Casting call

The Spotlight Players will conduct auditions for "A Company of Wayward Saints" at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday at St. John's Episcopal Church, 555 S. Wayne Road. Parts are open for actors, dancers, mimes and jugglers.

Knopfler's guitar work is incredible throughout, turning what was primarily a pop song — "Sultans of Swing" — into a 10-minute exercise in musical pyrotechnics. "Telegraph Road," which was amazingly complex yet accessible on last year's fine "Love Over Gold" album, is even hotter on the 13-minute version here.

Sure, some of the songs may sound the same, but it doesn't really matter, because somehow Knopfler refrains from playing the same lick twice, and while you marvel at his guitar prowess, the song itself sneaks up and makes an impression on its own.

Other tunes included on the two-LP set are "Going Home," the theme from the award-winning film "Local Hero," which Knopfler did the soundtrack to in his spare time; "Two Young Lovers," originally from the acclaimed "Twisting By the Pool" E.P., and a rollicking number called "Solid Rock," which will undoubtedly be transformed into solid gold sales, proving the album's title correct.

The Stratocaster hasn't sounded this good in years.

Belyue-Thomas

Bettye J. Thomas of Lansing and Dwight E. Belyue of DeWitt have begun planning their Sept. 1 wedding, following the announcement of their engagement by their parents, Omega Williams of Battle Creek, William Thomas of Albion, Bonnie Austin of Inkster and Chester Belyue of Los Angeles, Calif.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Battle Creek High School and Kellogg Community College. She presently is attending Michigan State University and is employed by the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors in Lansing.

She also is secretary and an executive board member of the Lansing Branch of the NAACP.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Inkster High School and of the School of Engineering at Michigan State University. A member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, he also is an employee of the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors in Lansing.

Haddad-Wilson

A May 19 wedding date is being planned for by Sharon Gail Wilson of Plymouth and her fiancé, Hugh Howard Haddad of Westland.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Morris and Carol Wilson of Plymouth. A 1982 graduate of Plymouth-Canton High Schools, she currently is employed as a secretary at D & R Auto parts in Belleville. She also serves as the coach of a puppet team and is a member of the choir at the First Baptist Church of Wayne.

Her fiancé is the son of Michael and Virginia Haddad of Westland. A 1977 graduate of John Glenn High School, he is employed by MILICO in Southfield.

Hugh Howard Haddad — Sharon Gail Wilson

Myers-Paxton

A July 22 wedding date has been set by Helen Ann Myers of Wayne and her fiancé Randall Aaron Paxton of Westland.

The bride-elect is the daughter of David and Doris Myers, both of Wayne, while her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Paxton of Westland.

Miss Myers attended Franklin Junior High School and Wayne Memorial High School. She is self-employed with Undercover Wear.

Her fiancé has attended Adams Junior High School, Wayne Memorial High School and the William D. Ford Vocational-Technical Center, where he studied welding. He is employed by Southview Inc. of Romulus.

Helen Ann Myers— Randall Aaron Paxton

Gates-Lucas

St. Anthony's Church in Belleville will be the setting for the June 9 nuptial of Denise Jean Lucas of Belleville and Robert Lewis Gates of San Diego, California.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Robert and Mary Lou Lucas of Belleville, while her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gates of Plymouth.

Miss Lucas will graduate from Belleville High School this year and is employed by the Rawsonville McDonalds. Her fiancé, a 1981 graduate of Plymouth-Canton High School, is petty officer third class in the U.S. Navy.

We would like to extend our deepest appreciation to all our friends, neighbors, relatives, customers, employees and the staff of Annapolis hospital for all the support given during our recent family illness.

Thank you for the many lovely cards, flowers and gifts.

With much gratitude,
Mr. and Mrs. George Demetriou and family

Golden year

Baileys mark 50th anniversary

Some 125 friends and relatives were on hand Feb. 25 to help Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bailey celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

The celebration was held in the fellowship room of the Garden City Church of Christ and was hosted by the Westland couple's four children and their families — Maryann and Bill Snodgrass and their son Michael; Jane and mac Milasch and family, Greg and Steve, Linda (Milasch) and husband Paul Lukenoski; Fred and Bonnie Bailey and sons David and Scott; and Brenda and Rich Ussery and their children, Tommy and Teresa.

The Baileys were married on Feb. 24, 1934, in Lowrenceburg, Tenn., by Brother T.C. King, a minister of the Church of Christ. They have lived in the Wayne area for 34 years.

Out-of-town guests included Peggy Benson of Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bailey, all of Ethridge, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Marrell of Lowrenceburg, Tenn.; Mrs. Bill Eggleston, Brenda Eggleston and Mrs. Beverly Little of Manchester, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Stan Smith of Saline, Mrs. Jennie Barnes, Roy Miller and Dawn Boyd of Owasso, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Passmore and family of Frankmeuth, Mr. and Mrs. Don Scherbovitch and family of Duroud, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pennington and family of Ann Arbor.

Payment to be made in cash, cashier or certified check payable to "The Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners." A minimum deposit of twenty-five dollars ($25.00), or 25% of the bid, whichever is greater, is required at the time of auction to hold any vehicle for up to twenty-four (24) hours. The balance is to be paid in full by cash, cashier's or certified check, upon pick up of the vehicle. Failure to pick up the vehicle within twenty-four (24) hours after the auction is completed, will nullify the bid and the deposit will be forfeited to cover administrative costs incurred by the seller.
